ELLIOTT QUITS; HAWLEY IS OUT; BURNS DECLINES

BASEBALL ASSOCIATION'S AFFAIRS IN TANGLE

ELLIOTT'S ACTION SURPRISE

VOTED HIMSELF OUT OF OFFICE WITH MANY PROXIES

MR. HAWLEY IS OUT OF IT

MANAGER DECLARES HE HAS OTHER PROSPECTS

BURNS "DUCKS" DIRECTORATE

"Old Timer" Says "Not for Me" When Told He Is Now a Baseball Director

President Elliott declines to accept re-election as head of the baseball association.

John C. Burns, elected a director to succeed Elliott, refused to serve.

Pink Hawley declares he will not accept the management of the club for 1909.

"I am not a candidate for the position of manager of the La Crosse baseball club," said "Pink" Hawley today.

Hawley's announcement of his retirement followed the breaking of the news to him by a Tribune reporter that President John Elliott

JOHN A. ELLIOTT
Retiring President of the Baseball Association

had withdrawn as president and a director of the association.

"I've known men to gather proxies to vote themselves in as baseball directors," said Hawley, "but this is the first time I have heard of a man getting a majority of the stock to vote himself out."

Elliott's Unique Way.

Elliott's method was indeed unique He had resigned on a previous occasion, but the directors had declined to accept his resignation,

"PINK" HAWLEY
Retiring Manager of the Baseball Association

and had re-elected him anyway. In the annual meeting last night forestalled another effort to force him to retain his position. He entered the meeting armed with a majority of the stock, and while every director present voted for him, he outvoted them. He positively refused to reconsider.

The meeting was so surprised by the action of Mr. Elliott that it attempted little business, merely accepting the audit of the financial business of the association for the year. Acting president, Vice Presi-

NEW ASSEMBLYMAN ADMIRABLY FITTED

J. E. McCONNELL

The Successful Republican Candidate for Assemblyman from the First La Crosse County District has long been identified with party leadership in this section. He is known as a progressive of deliberate and thoughtful type. He has earned his success at the bar, and is expected to become one of the most active and influential members of the legislature. The large vote polled for him is a fine testimonial to the confidence he enjoys among his own people.

CUMMINS MAY NOT GET A TOGA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — Four legislative districts are in doubt in Iowa and the United States senatorship is hanging in the balance, is the information the secretary of agriculture brings from his state after a month's campaigning. He expressed grave fears to the president today.

MORSE WILL FIGHT 15 YEARS SENTENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—From a cell in the Tombs prison, Charles W. Morse now directs the efforts of his counsel to secure his freedom. Judge Lacombe granted a writ of error to the Morse lawyers. This writ is returnable on Dec. 3.

Heinze Trial Next.

It was stated today that Edward Moxey, mathematical expert for the United States government, who was the government's chief witness in the trial of Charles W. Morse and Alfred H. Curtis will on Monday take up the case against F. Augustus Heinze. Heinze was indicted in January last on charges of over certifying checks and misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National bank of which he was president in October, 1907, at the time of the panic.

FIREMEN SAVED FROM MOLTEN LEAD

ROASTED IN MINE

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—Lying on a bed of hot coals, burning their bodies beyond recognition, Patrick Daily and Gere Reed, miners, entombed in the Rend colleries were recovered today. Hope is abandoned of saving two others who were entombed.

Reed and Daily were both married men, the latter a bridegroom of two weeks. Mrs. Daily and Mrs. Reed were near the mouth of the shaft when the bodies were brought to the surface.

The men apparently had met a terrible fate. A hundred tons of slate and debris shut them off from the outer world, and they probably suffocated, unable to escape the flames which broke out when the explosion occurred. The state inspector has charge of the rescue work, and every effort is being made to reach Stevens and Holmes before attempts are made to stop the fire. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

MISSOURI SPLIT UP.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—A badly split list of state officials is the best indication of the still incomplete returns. It is believed the parties are almost equally divided for office.

BEGS IN STREETS FOR SAKE OF LOVE

ARRESTED WITH FORMER WISCONSIN LEGISLATOR

BOTH ARE HELD IN CUSTODY

Miss Catherine Livingston Must Face Charge of Begging—Was Supporting her Sweetheart

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 7.—Catherine Livingston, a slight, brown-haired girl of Wauwatosa, Wis., was arrested for begging in order to support herself and Elmer E. Cain of Milwaukee, a former member of the Wisconsin state legislature, with whom she was living at the Randolph hotel. When she was taken to the Harrison street station with Cain she protested vehemently that she alone was to blame and that her companion had had no knowledge of the fact that she was soliciting alms.

In her possession was found a bank book issued by the First National bank of Chicago, which showed a balance of $2,699 in favor of Mrs. Elizabeth E. C. Whitely of Lockport, Ill. The police were inclined to believe at first that Miss Livingston and Mrs. Whitely were one and the same, and that the girl had found her mendicant's trade profitable, but Miss Livingston insisted that she picked up the book on the street and that she had made no attempt to draw out any of the funds.

When arrested she told a pitiful tale of her efforts to secure money with which to support herself and her sweetheart.

Briefly her story was that she had met and fallen in love with Cain, who was a member of the last Wisconsin legislature, and had pretended that she had plenty of money. During his absence she devoted her time to begging on the streets

She will be arraigned on a mendicancy charge.

TARIFF SESSION TO LAST UNTIL JULY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—According to a prediction at the White house by Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the house committee on ways and means, the extra session of the 61st congress to be held for the readjustment of the tariff, may be called March 10, and it is likely to continue well into July before a tariff bill is passed. Payne says the committee has never before been in better shape to report a tariff bill.

BANK MAY PAY OUT.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kans., Nov 7.—It is believed that the Citizens and Farmers State bank, which closed yesterday, will be able to pay the depositors in full. The announcement was made today by the directors that there is a large supply of cash on hand. Cashier Sanders explains that heavy losses to a produce company caused the suspension, as the bank was unable to realize on the security given.

GOMPERS OFF TO DENVER.

CHICAGO, Nov 7—Gompers, Secretary Morrison, John Mitchell and 200 hundred delegates departed on a special train for Denver at 11 today. FOREST FIRES IN SOUTH.

THESE WOMEN REINCARNATE PRINCESSES OF OLD

Do you believe in reincarnation? Were these American heiresses ever queens, countesses and duchesses in a former life? These are the questions which ar perplexing theosophists today.

Dr. Rogers, a prominent theosophist, when asked these questions, replied promptly in the affirmative.

"Miss Elkins, for example, has all the inherent attributes of a duchess," he said. "She lacks the title, that's all. She has the spirit of royalty and ultra aristocracy about her which attracted and held spellbound the Duke of the Abruzzi. No doubt Miss Elkins developed the magnetic charms which her titled fiance admires in several past lives of incarnations. In some former life she may have walked in the imperial courts of Rome. She may have had the high and mighty at her feet. Thus it is reasonable to suppose that, having had royal affiliations in a previous incarnation, it would only be natural that she would instinctively seek to identify herself again with the nobility.

Takes Own Life—Pittsburg Tragedy May Throw Light on a Previous Crime

PITTSBURG, Nov. 7.—The police are investigating the mystery surrounding the discovery in East Pittsburg today of the bodies of Mrs. Wm. Casey, lying on the bed with her throat cut from ear to ear, and her daughter, aged 6, on the floor nearby, with the head almost severed. A razor, dripping with blood, was found on the bed beside the woman. George Hartzell, a son-in-law of Mrs. Casey, was unconscious and breathing his last, with his body squeezed into a trunk and a bottle of chloroform near his nostrils.

They were found by Wm. Casey, who was returning from a republican jollification meeting Detective Englert says he is positive Hartzell killed the woman and her daughter and ended his life in the trunk. He declares he discovered that Hartzell yesterday purchased chloroform and explaining he desired to kill a dog.

Hartzell was acquitted in December of the murder of his wife. Mrs. Casey was the principal witness, refusing to testify against him.

WOULD HEAD OFF A RUSS EXTRADITION

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Revolutionists in Russia have retained Attorney Sissmans, of Chicago, to appear before the United States department to protest against the alleged scheme of the Russian government to get political offenders back to Russia. The revolutionists allege that the Russian government made a practice of lodging charges of felonies against the men they want and then procuring extradition from the United States court.

NICKOLAS ELSEN AND GEORGE GERLETTI IN ACCIDENT

HAVE MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

"Kicked" Car Crashes Into Auto at Bangor This Morning—Occupants Escape Uninjured

BANGOR, Wis., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—While on the way to La Crosse in an auto to secure a doctor and during a stop at the Milwaukee railroad crossing at Bangor this morning, the machine of Nickolas Elsen was badly smashed as the result of a collision with a box car. Nickolas Elsen, proprietor of the Elsen house in this city, was driving the car and was accompanied by George Gerletti. They were forced to jump for their lives. Both escaped uninjured.

Mr. Elsen, together with Mr. Gerletti, started out this morning for La Crosse to bring Dr. Edward Evans to this city in the auto. Arriving at the Milwaukee crossing they were forced to wait until a freight train on the main track passed and had drawn up on the stub track

In the meantime another engine working in the yards "kicked" a box car down the track upon which the auto was standing. Neither Mr. Elsen nor Gorletti were warned of the approach of the car until the shouts of spectators told them of the danger. The auto was "jumped" forward and was partially across the track when the crash came. Both occupants jumped.

The rear of the auto was wrecked but was later removed to Mr. Elsen's garage. Beyond the scare sustained as a result of the narrow escape neither of the men were injured.

MAY NOT TAX THE THOROUGHBREDS

H. W. GRISWOLD HAS PLAN TO INCREASE GROWTH

APPLIES ONLY TO THE MALES

Legislature May Take Important Step to "Boost" Breeding of Registered Livestock Here

It is probable that an effort will be made to have the next legislature pass a law exempting full blooded male cattle used for propagation from taxation. The idea is to pass a law similar to that exempting wide tired wagons from taxation. The purpose in the latter case was to promote the use of such wagons, because they are less harmful for country roads; in the case of the livestock exemption, it is argued that this would result in a great increase in the breeding of thoroughbreds.

Griswold's Idea.

The idea suggested by H. W. Griswold, of H. D. & H. W. Griswold, importers and breeders, of West Salem. As the result of correspondence, it will be taken up and fathered by the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, whose president, Charles L. Hill, of Rosendale, has declared in favor of it.

Plan Finds Favor.

Discussing the plan at The Tribune office today, Mr. Griswold said that Prof. Geo. C. Humphrey, who holds the chair of Animal Husbandry in the state university, has written him that he regards the proposed law as an excellent one. Had Valentine Keppel been re-elected, the law would have come before his committee, and would have received favorable consideration there. Senator Morris and Assemblyman-elect McConnell have been interviewed upon the subject, and while neither would commit himself without investigation, each said it looked well on the surface.

Would Not Be Assailed.

The objection detractors of the law would raise is that it is class legislation. However, this objection applies with equal certainty to a wide-tire law, and no question as to its constitutionality has ever been raised.

Mr. Griswold has written to Assemblyman-elect Kneen, of Bangor, and says he believes Kneen will favor the measure on the ground that it will advance the movement for better cattle and horses in Wisconsin.

Casablanca Affair Proves Source of Further Squabbling Regarding Phraseology.

BERLIN, Nov. 8 —The announcement today that the Century Magazine will publish an extended interview with the kaiser, in the December issue, sent a thrill of alarm throughout the nation. It is feared the interview will prove another "London telegraph affair," again involving Germany in political complications. It is reported that the ambassador at Washington has been ordered to obtain an exact text of the interview and attempt its suppression.

Franco-German Fuss.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Ambassador Cambon, of France, and Secretary Von Schoen, of Germany, are again in violent disagreement in the Casablanca negotiations, according to information at the foreign office this afternoon. After practically accepting the French form of declaration, Von Schoen is reported as insisting on the inclusion of two other paragraphs expressing France's regrets at the interference of her soldiers with the prerogatives of the German consulate and others censuring the French officials at Casablanca. The request was premptorially refused by Cambon who stated the proposal was distasteful There was no need to inform his government of the changed attitude of Germany. The new demands, it is believed, will result in the kaiser injecting himself into the dispute.

England Not Worried

LONDON, Nov 7.—The lull in the Franco-German negotiations in the Casablanca incident is not causing apprehension among English diplomats. To save her self-respect Germany is likely to proceed cautiously.

Calls Germany Treacherous.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Distrustful of Germany's sincerity in private negotiations, France intimates it will not entertain the Casablanca affair at a private conference. Since the Moroccan question became troublesome, France charges that several conversational agreements between the German ambassador and the French foreign minister were repudiated by the German government. Fearing war, France was in no position to denounce the treachery of Germany then.

Von Schoen proposed to Cambon that the French and German notes be united.

BELGRADE, Nov. 7.—The Servian government today demanded an explanation from Vienna of the action of the Austrian gunboat tying up navigation on the Danube, while Austrian boats were not interfered with.

FEW DUCKS FOUND IN WINNEBAGO LAKE

NEENAH, Wis., Nov. 7.—Not in many years has duck hunting in the Lake Winnebago region been so poor as it is this year. The cold snap did not come soon enough and the ducks and geese are flying high and do not stop in this region, keeping up their flight to the south uninterrupted. The game wardens are having a comparatively easy time.

RACING GETS A KNOCKOUT BLOW

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—What may be the final chapter in the story of the fight against racing in the District of Columbia is recorded in the dismissal by the district court of appeals of the appeal of William Davis, the New York bookmaker convicted in the spring of 1906 of setting up a gaming table by making books at the Bennings race course.

His Time Up.

"I canna get over it," a Scotch farmer remarked to his wife. "I put a twa shillin' piece in ta plate at kirk this morn instead o' ma usual penny!"

The beadle had noticed the mistake and also the frightened face of his old friend, who had not the courage to retake the coin as the old-fashioned ladle-like spoon was carefully passed over the head to the next pew, and one penny after another was dropped into the bowl.

The old farmer sat in silence and said nothing. The old beadle allowed him to miss the plate for twenty-four consecutive Sundays.

On the twenty-fifth Sunday the farmer again ignored the collection plate, but the old beadle steadied the ladle in front of him, and in a loud, tragic whisper, said hoarsely:

"Your time's up noo, Sandy!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

GREAT STRUGGLE IS BEING WAGED TODAY

NORTHRUP FIELD WILL WITNESS FIERCE STRUGGLE

BADGERS AGAINST GOPHERS

Thousands Have Assembled to See Greatest Gridiron Contest in West Today

Minneapolis is the center of western football today. The Badgers are waging a fierce contest on Northrup field this afternoon with the husky team from Minnesota. The Cardinal squad is in excellent condition and although Coach Barry says they will have only a fighting chance the rooters look for a Badger victory. Wisconsin's great hope rests in Keckie Moll, the crack little quarter. Moll has been kicking goal after goal in practice and has showed his bility to keep his head in a critical moment as was demonstrated in the game with Marquette last Saturday, when he won the game by a drop kick during the last ten minutes of play.

On the other hand, the Minnesota team have not been playing high class ball during the past week. There is however an intense rivalry between the two teams that will insure a desperate struggle. McGovern, the fast end of the Minnesota team, will probably be on the side lines, as his ankle is not in shape to do much playing The rest of the team will present a first class aggregation. The Minnesota team will probably resort to the old style of play, as they seem unable to work the forward pass to any great extent. The Cardinals will use this a great deal, as they have had considerable success with it this season.

The only other game of any great importance is the Illinois-Iowa game. The Illini are looked to win the game, but the score will be low.

BADGER SPEED VS. GOPHER BEEF

THAT IS WHAT THE ROOTERS SAY TODAY

WISCONSIN HAS MORE VETS

Barry's Team One of Experienced Men, While Minnesota Has Only Few Old Players

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8.—Wisconsin goes into the game with Minnesota not over-confident, but hoping for victory. The prevalent idea is that the score will be a small one, but that the Badgers will win. If the ball is within striking distance of the Gophers' goal Keckie Moll will be given an opportunity to try for a drop kick from the field and the success that has crokned his efforts in this department during the week warrants the belief that Wisconsin's score will be augmented through this medium.

Regarding the game Captain Rogers said:

"We are prepared to put up the usual type of Wisconsin playing"

The same spirit pervaded the entire squad. The men felt that they were ready to give a great exhibition of Wisconsin's fighting spirit, though heavily outweighed by the men of the north.

Team of Veterans.

To compare the two teams is a hopeless task. Little is known of the individual merits of the men of the Minnesota team. A majority of the men are new to gridiron fame this fall, while the Badger team is composed of veterans. The Minnesota line is heavier by far. At center Stiehm will oppose Capt. Safford. In the guard positions Messmer and Dreutzer will face Rosenwald and Ostrand respectively Ostrand is a heavier man, but it is doubtful whether there is any advantage here for either team, while Messmer is looked to outplay his opponent. In the tackle positions Boyle will play against Farnham, another new man of whom little is known. On the other side Osthoff will oppose the veteran Young, and here will be a battle royal. At the wing positions each team has a new man. Rodemacher, the Gopher veteran, is not to be placed in a class with Rogers and the work of Pettijohn in the Minnesota-Chicago game would not give him the better of the argument over Dean, who, despite his ight weight, is one of the fiercest tacklers in the Badger aggregation.

Plankers Is to Be Feared.

In the backfield trouble is expected for Wisconsin in the shape of the Minnesota fullback, Plankers, who is a tower of strength, both on offense and defense. For halfbacks Minnesota relies on McGovern, Hubbard and Johnson, the first two named starting the game. Atkinson has apparently secured the quarterback position. Wisconsin's backfield will be composed of Moll at quarter, Culver and Cunningham at the halves, and Wilce at fullback On paper this seems the stronger aggregation, particularly in the kicking and forward pass departments. All in all, it will be a fight to overcome weight by speed, with the weight argument in favor of the Gophers.

LA CROSSE HIGHS HAVE A HOLLIDAY

As no game was scheduled for the High school football team this afternoon and a number of the players wished to attend the Eau Claire game at Eau Claire, the team was given a day of rest.

However, the work that is before them next week will make up for the holiday. Every night a hard scrimmage will be gone through and after this a good half hour's signal practice will be indulged in. Coach Cooper will give no man a chance to work on the first team who is not safely above the required mark in standings and will in this way make better team work possible. This has been the chief fault with the La Crosse team, and if the team can be made in the future to work together as the Sparta team does, La Crosse's hopes of obtaining the state championship are of the best. The new plays taught the boys during the past few nights by Coach Cooper are certainly sure to be ground gainers if they can be executed against a strong opponent the way they have been against the second team men. After the scrimage and signal practice of next week La Crosse will enter the game with bright chances of defeating the Eau Claire aggregation.

FARM RUINED BY BURSTING DAM

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Nov. 7.—The big Borst ditch which is being constructed to drain the lakes six miles east of this city, broke away, the water eating into soft ground and carrying away a barn and granary with 1,500 bushels of wheat on Martin Grunden's farm, and flooding quite a section of country. Water had been turned in to clear out the ditch before tiling was laid and soon became unmanageable.

TARIFF REVISION, DOWN.

It is not a particularly reassuring fact that Mr. Payne has called a meeting of the proper committee for the purpose of considering a revision of the tariff. Any committee of "Joe" Cannon's make-up can be depended upon not to "tinker" with the "sacred schedules" in a way to alarm the "vested interests." The revision he may direct is certain to be "safe and sane."

But Mr. Payne will hardly act in the capacity of a dictator in the present instance, we presume. The republican party has pledged itself to a substantial revision along lines calculated to improve general conditions. Mr. Taft is a party to that pledge, and he will hardly consent to an immaterial revision. More than two hundred republican congressmen, many just returned with reduced majorities, have heard the not uncertain demands of the people. They will not be satisfied to become parties to a misrepresentation of their constituents through evasive readjustments of the schedules which mean nothing in effect. The progressive element in the republican party chose Taft, and he was elected upon the ground that he was a progressive. He knows this, and if Mr. Roosevelt's endorsement is not misleading, the reactionary dabbling of such men as Payne will but spur him to the more vigorous insistence upon the keeping of the party faith.

We do not know just what a tariff reduced to the difference between cost of production here and abroad, "plus a reasonable profit," is, but to that Mr. Taft is pledged, and we doubt if a "reasonable profit" can be stretched to cover the discrepancy between the tariff ideas of Judge Taft and of Cannon, Payne, Dalzell and others of that ilk.

DISTANCE DON'T ENCHANT.

The Illustrated London News contains an entertaining commentary on John D. Rockefeller, valuable if at all in that it may give the English view of the gentleman, and decidedly entertaining in that it treats him with a fine sarcasm showing British appreciation of our grotesque money kings. Contempt for the class, and particularly for the head of the class, marks the article, a portion of which follows:

"Mr. Rockefeller, the notorious millionaire, has recently been writing an account of himself. He says that the great American 'business man is not in the matter for money, but for something else—triumph, or some rubbish.

"As a matter of fact, I should think much better of Rockefeller and his like if they were in it for money. To desire money is much nobler than to desire success. Desiring money may mean desiring to return to your country, or marry the woman you love, or ransom your father from brigands. It may mean something inhuman and detestable. It must mean that you take an abstract pleasure in the unbrotherly act of distancing and disgracing other men.

"I think no better of Mr Rockefeller because he does not collect dollars, but collects scalps. But this, though a true comment, is not the obvious comment. The essential is that, while we know nothing of Rockefeller's soul, we do know something of Rockefeller's income. He has, by huge efforts, obtained huge wealth. That prime fact may be explained, but it cannot be explained away."

WANT WARM WAITING ROOM.

There is a general feeling on the part of citizens who are forced to travel by street car between here and Onalaska, that heat and cleanliness in the waiting room at the joint terminals of the La Crosse City railway and the Onalaska interurban are a positive necessity. More than that, they feel that it is a default of public service on the part of the company, or companies, not to have furnished them.

Numerous communications have come to The Tribune office affecting this question. They come, needless to say, from people who ride over the lines and who suffer the hardship of waiting in any sort of weather. Some of them are courteous appeals for accommodation; others are vigorous protests and bitter denunciations. All have a single purpose—to secure the essentials of comfort in the waiting room.

We are impelled to sympathize with these demands, even though their language be radically aggressive. We are not concerned with the cost of heating, although it may be pertinent to say that it would be modest. We are not concerned with the question as to which of the two companies is obliged to maintain the service; it may be pertinent to say that the stockholders are so nearly identical that this question is not material. We ARE concerned with the question of adequate service by the public utilities of this community. It is as much a duty of these corporations to provide warm, clean shelter for those changing cars from one line to another, as it is to provide comfortable cars. The Onalaska cars run at intervals of a half hour, and it frequently happens that passengers going out of La Crosse are obliged to wait the full 30 minutes in the biting cold. It is a sufficient inconvenience to be delayed so long, without suffering actual hardship while waiting. The company should at once proceed to the small expense involved in adequately heating and caring for its waiting room at this spot.

To compel the company to accede to this demand needs but a plea to the state utilities commission, but it would seem untactful for the company to compel its patrons to wring from it every improvement in the service as a concession, when it might ingratiate itself in the public esteem by proffering essentials that it must provide perforce if not voluntarily. We advise some suitable provision of the sort suggested. It will be appreciated the better for coming without recourse to the exaction of the law. The company has made substantial improvement in its general service during the past year, and a good tempered adjustment of this matter will be in line with the modern policies of the new superintendent.

The Milwaukee Journal finds ground for a feeling of security in the results of the recent election. It points to the triumph of anti-Cannon candidates, and to the victory of that class of men in public life who recognize the right of the people to rule. As to the outcome in Wisconsin, it finds satisfaction in Cooper, Lenroot and Nelson.

Mr. Taft is out with a ringing declaration that business must conform to the law, a pronouncement the tone of which should inspire progressive republicans with faith and Bryan democrats with hope. After all, they are all striving for the same thing—results.

Confidentially, it will be worth a V to see what happens to the deer next week. With the better half of our editorial staff on the trail, all the "antlered monarchs" are apt to get away with is "Just Life."

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

Lifesaver's Reward.

John K. Lloyd, the noted lifesaver of Long Branch, related some of his life-saving experiences at a complimentary dinner.

"I have had dealings with very generous men," said the veteran hero, "and I have had dealings with very mean men.

"Once, on a January day in Philadelphia, a man who was recovering from a debauch fell from one of the Deleware piers into the cold, wet river.

"Slipping off my overcoat, I plunged in after him. I fished him up from the bottom. He was unconscious, but I managed to get him to a big, cold cake of ice, and on this cake of ice I supported the pair of us till help arrived.

"Well, I had saved the man's life, and he said he was grateful.

"'Here, young fellow,' said he, 'here's a half dollar. You saved my life and you must be chilled through. Go and get yourself a pint of whisky.'

"But I handed him a quarter back.

"'No, no,' I said, 'A half pint's your price. You've overvalued yourself.'"—Washington Star.

Still Useful.

A small girl, lost at Coney Island, was kindly cared for at the police station until her parents should be found. The matron, endeavoring to keep the child contented, had given her a candy cat, with which she played happily all day.

At night the cat had disappeared, and the matron inquired if it had been lost.

"No," said the little maid. "I kep' it most all day. But then it got so dirty I was 'shamed to look at it, so I et it."—Youth's Companion.

Katherine—Lord De Broke seems to throw all the other foreign notables in the shade.

Kidder—No wonder. His family tree is very extensive.

Logical.

"Do you play any instrument, Mr. Jinks?"

"Yes, I'm a cornetist."

"And your sister?"

"She's a pianist."

"Does your mother play?"

"She's a zitherist."

"And your father."

"He's a pessimist."—Detroit Tribune.

Feminine Calm.

Two women with two little babies bearing a striking resemblance to each other once went shopping together. Leaving the babies in their baby carriages outside the shop the two mothers plunged into the exhilarating joys of bargain day. Then emerging from the storm and stress, they each grasped the handles of a baby carriage and trundled it home.

Next day one of the women appeared at the other's house weeping.

"I feel sure," she sobbed, "that something dreadful has occurred."

"What?" inquired the other calmly.

"I just know it! Yesterday we changed babies! I took yours and you took mine!"

She looked at her friend expecting excitement. But her friend continued perfectly calm.

"Oh, dear, what shall we do?" wailed the first mother, wringing her hands.

"Are you sure that we changed babies?"

"Oh, yes—perfectly sure."

"Well—let's change 'em back."—New York Times.

Just Think of It!

Gen. Matos, who led the last unsuccessful revolution against President Castro of Venezuela, is a great dandy. Even when in the field with his army it is said that he invariably wears white gloves.

Once, previous to starting his revolution, he was arrested on suspicion by Castro and lodged in the Caracas jail. At a gathering in the city a number of tender-hearted ladies were deploring the hardships which Matos, accustomed to refinement and luxury, must undoubtedly be enduring.

"Think of it!" remarked one, "I have been told that they make him sleep on a hard wooden bench!"

"And the say," put in another, "that he is made to wear handcuffs!"

"And chains around his ankles," wailed a third.

"And, listen," whispered another, "I have been told that he has to—eat with his fingers!"

There was a horrified pause.

"Think of all the gloves he must spoil!" remarked an irreverent anti-Matos individual.—New York Sun.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good;" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

The campaign of 1896 has scarcely become sufficiently connected with ancient history to require a chronology. In fact the campaign of 1896 is still discussed in connection with the campaign of 1908 because of the fact that many of the principal actors in one are still the principal actors in the other.

As is well remembered, the question of the free coinage of silver was the paramount issue, although the discontent and hard times, which the republicans attributed to the Wilson bill, gave great force to the republican demand for a true protective tariff. The advocates of free coinage of silver were sufficiently legion to bring the money problem into first concern. All of the populists had been carried away by this idea four years before, and now that the democratic party was to make free silver the dominant issue, the populists immediately joined forces and supported the democratic candidate.

The first of the great national conventions to assemble was that of the republicans, which met at St. Louis on June 16. Public sentiment had already agreed upon William McKinley of Ohio as the nominee for president, although Thomas B. Reed of Maine had a strong and influential following. Mr. McKinley was nominated in the first ballot, receiving more than two-thirds of the votes of the convention, while Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey was chosen for vice president. The republican platform as one of unparalleled incapacity, dishonor and disaster. It eulogized protection and reciprocity and opposed the free coinage of silver, with a demand for the preservation of the existing gold standard. The adoption of the plank favoring gold standard was opposed by many free silver republican delegates. Being defeated by an overwhelming vote of the convention, Senator Teller of Colorado, the leader of the free silver faction, followed by some 30 free silver delegates, formally withdrew from the convention and refused to support the ticket. The democratic national convention met at Chicago July 7. It was plain from the moment the convention assembled that free silver delegates were in the ascendency, and that free silver was to be the rule of the assembly. The convention refused to endorse the administration of Mr. Cleveland, despite the strenuous efforts of his friends, and probably this can be traced directly to the fact that the convention was free silver in sentiment, while Mr. Cleveland had strongly opposed free silver throughout his public career. Public sentiment had not been fixed upon any one man to bear the party banner, and a spirited contest was held for the nomination. Richard P. Bland of Missouri, Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania and Governor Boise of Idaho were recognized as the leading candidates at the time of the assembling of the convention. But in the course of the debate on the free silver plank a new leader was discovered. This man was William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, who championed the cause of silver on the floor of the convention in a brilliant speech of surpassing eloquence which so far swept the convention off its feet that he was nominated for the presidency on the first ballot. Arthur Sewall, a wealthy ship builder of Maine, was nominated for vice president.

That portion of the democratic party opposed to free silver and in sympathy with the Cleveland aministration withdrew from the support of the Bryan ticket and at a convention held in Indianapolis on September 2 nominated General John M. Palmer of Illinois for president and Simon Zuckner of Kentucky for vice president on a gold standard platform which endorsed the Cleveland administration.

The populists met at St. Louis and logically nominated Mr. Bryan for president, with Thomas E. Watson of Georgia for vice president. Mr. Bryan received still a third nomination from the national silver party, which met in St. Louis at the same time.

The campaign which followed was remarkable for the general discussion of financial and economic questions, and for the unusual popular interest aroused. Mr. Bryan traveled up and down the country for months, speaking to vast throngs of people who were eager to hear this young tribune of the people. Mr. McKinley, on the other hand, remained quietly at his home in Canton, Ohio, and from his doorsteps welcomed over 700,000 visitors and delivered over 300 speeches to visiting delegations. The currency question was almost the only question discussed by the campaign orators.

As election day drew near the popular interest and excitement reached an unprecedented pitch. Not since the civil war had the country been so stirred up by a presidential election. Business was to a large degree suspended in expectation of the result. The republicans carried by unprecedented majorities every state north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and east of the Mississippi. For the first time since the days of reconstruction the "solid" south was broken, for the republicans carried Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and even Kentucky. McKinley's electoral vote was 271, while Bryan received 176. The popular vote, however, was much closer, McKinley's plurality over Bryan being only about 280,000.

MISS GERALDINA FARIERR ENGAGED TO ANTONIO SCOTT

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—The engagement of Geraldine Farrar, the Melrose, Mass., prima donna, to Antonio Scotti, the Italian baritone of the Metropolitan Opera house, has just been announced. This engagement comes as somewhat of a surprise to her many friends in view of her recent definite announcement that she was not engaged. A year ago when Miss Farrar came to America on the same steamer with Antonio Scotti there were predictions that the play bills last winter would announce Signor and Signora Scotti before the season was over. These were treated by the famous American singer as a jest, but now, nearly a year later, this prophecy has been fulfilled.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE

By Horace Annesley Vachell

[Copyrighted, 1908.]

"I have no intention of explaining."

"If you don't, Charteris, I'm afraid that Joy Vennable will make it difficult for you to play Bridge with her father. He's very sharp. There would be more or less of a scene: the one thing I'm anxious to avoid."

"I ought to have said 'No' at once."

"You said 'Yes—with pleasure!'"

"Then nothing is left but 'Important business in town!'"

"No, no: you take this too seriously." He looked keenly at Hugo. "Am I right in my conviction that this last month has been worth something to you?"

"It's been like bathing in Jordan."

"Jordan? I see. If you feel that way I take it upon myself, as a physician, to tell you to keep on dipping, and mum's the word for the present."

Finally, Hugo was persuaded.

The first evening at the Rectory was very pleasant, so pleasant that Hugo was beguiled insensibly into pastures wherein he had not wandered for many months. He had the gift of being able to describe vividly places he had visited; and an eager light in the eyes of his listeners lured him on and on, from country to country, as if he were personally conducting a small and select party of tourists, who had never been out of England before. When he stopped, George Vennable supplied the spur of the right word. Joy said nothing, but she listened even as Desdemona listened to the adventurous Moor. Bridge was forgotten. George Vennable sat by the wood-fire in his bedroom, for as yet he had not been allowed down stairs, and Joy sat in a low stool beside him: the ministering angel, within reach of anything that might be required. Hugo sat opposite, on the other side of the hearthrug. Once the parson stretched out a thin white hand, which rested lightly upon Joy's head: and Joy took the hand and kissed it. That she did so in Hugo's presence was the measure of the stride he had taken in passing their threshold. George Vennable caught Hugo's eye.

"Extre avec ceux qu'on aime, cela suffit," he murmured.

"It does not quite suffice," said Joy, looking up into father's face. "Unless we take for granted that those whom we love, love us. And it would not suffice, unless those we loved were comfortable and happy. I was miserable when I was alone with you and your rising temperature."

And then George Vennable had smiled at Hugo, with a subtle derisiveness as much as to say: "Joy, you see, loves me devotedly, and I, as you know, take all that she can give, and give little in return."

Hugo reflected that the parson might be Laodicean, and lamentably unparochial, ann inordinately interested in lepidoptera and fungi, but with all his failings he was human.

As Hugo talked of Cashmir, where he happened to be wandering for the moment, he looked steadily at Joy. In the shaded light of the lamp, with the fitful glow from the fire playing upon her hair and face, she appeared a girl rather than a woman. Her attitude emphasised this. She was leaning against her father, her head upon the level of his knees. For the moment one could hardly conceive her to be self-reliant, authoritative: the 'parson in petticoats!' The outward masculine signs of autocracy had vanished: the inward feminine graces shone with a soft radiance, with an irresistible appeal.

For the first time in their intercourse, Hugo saw clearly that, at core, she was quite other than what she had seemed. Hitherto, she had not chosen to reveal herself to him. Why should she? Now in the intimacy of such a scene as this, she cast aside her out-of-door garments, appearing as the complement, not the substitute, of Man, dependent upon him, leaning against him, relaxed into a soft and alluring passivity. And in her eyes, no longer sparkling, but suffused with shadows, Hugo seemed to read a particular message for him, as if she wished him to understand that alone with those she loved she was always like this: a creature to be cherished tenderly and caressed, the eternal woman absorbing and radiating love, not happy nor content—as she had just borne witness—unless those she loved were happy and content also.

Presently, her father asked her to sing. Hugo felt rather uncomfortable, because there was no piano in the room. Surely she would not attempt a song without an accompaniment. Joy went out of the room and returned in a minute with a guitar.

"She sings dear little songs to me," said George Vennable.

Joy sat down in a shadowy corner and began one of Moore's melodies, set to old-fashioned music. Hugo, who had heard the greatest singers, knew at once that she had been well taught, and he perceived as quickly that her voice, lacking power and compass, possessed instead a most enchanting flexibility and sweetness. There were tones and fractions of tones, alluring gradation, due, possibly, to some remarkable conformation of the vocal chords, which brought tears to the eyes, the tears that never fall, but return to the heart. Hugo paid but little attention to the words of the song. In his ears were the soft soughing of trees, the lilt of running water, and now and again the clear trill of a bird.

Looking at the parson, he saw a strange rejuvenation: that unmistakable glow of youth so seldom seen upon the faces of those past middle age. The music transported the parson into some pays du tendre, where he had wandered happily long ago.

"Sing another," he murmured, as the last cadence rose and fell. She sang three more songs.

When she finished, Hugo knew that he had made the acquaintance of a third Joy. The echo of her voice awoke memories long dormant. In Mexico and Southern California he had listened to those pathetic, bewitching tones and semi-tones. And always they had seemed to reveal the past and illuminate it with a tender light of yesterday. The singers themselves had been of yesterday, the daughters of a primitive and patriarchal people. In their songs was embalmed the essence of pastoral lives, that could never be lived again in such countries as England.

"Thank you," said Hugo, in a low voice. "You have given me a very great pleasure."

"Balm for a tired heart," said the parson.

Joy laughed, and the spell was broken as she came out of the shadows.

"Who taught you?" Hugo asked.

"The most delightful old man, a Spaniard."

She plunged into a pathetic story of a foreigner stranded in Easthampton, unable—possibly for political reasons—to return to his native land, but always yearning for it, and expressing that yearning in his music.

"It must be terrible," she concluded, "to be obliged to live,"—her voice sank,—"and to die in a dull, dirty town when one has been born and brought up in the most lovely part of Aragon."

Best Medicine Says a Doubting Thomas.

"I Am Convinced That Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Is the Best Medicine I Have Ever Taken. I Say This with Due Deliberation After the Use of Two Bottles."—Chas. E. Getchell, Webbs Mills, Maine.

Mr. Getchell, Like Thousands of Others Who Have Been Greatly Benefited by the Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Cannot Say Too Much in Praise of This, the World's Greatest Medicine. On November 18, 1907, Mr. Getchell Wrote as Follows:

"After due deliberation, having used two bottles of Duffy's Malt Whiskey, I am convinced that it is the best medicine that I have ever taken. At first I was doubtful, but I doubt no more, for I can truly say to you and to the world that its use has improved my health so much I feel like a new man. For the past five years I have been able to work but little, with pains in my kidneys and bladder. I suffered continually, and until I began to take your Malt Whiskey I got no relief, but since then I have been growing better every day. You cannot imagine how happy I am to be able once more to walk three or four miles without any of the old trouble, and I sincerely thank you for calling my attention to your valuable medicine, and be assured I shall always keep it in the house. If any one wishes to write me concerning it I shall be glad to answer."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If weak and run down, take a teaspoonful four times a day in half a glass of milk or water.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 a large bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. COAST EXTENSON A MAMMOTH WORK

Never before in the history of railroads was a great building project carried out so quietly as the Pacific cost extension of the St. Paul road. In this great undertaking, which means so much to the Pacific Northwest, more than $100,000,000 is being expended with as little fuss as an ordinary busines enterprise would make in expending a few thousand dollars. The St. Paul road is not coming into a country that needs the aid of the promoter and the land agent. In timber alone there is almost a competency for the new line, for the St. Paul management has been given assurance that no fewer than 50,000 carloads will be given it the first year after the work has been completed.

One of the wonderful facts regarding the construction of this new trans-continental line, which will stretch from Chicago and the Twin Cities by the way of Butte, Mont., Seattle, and eventually on to Vancouver, is the thoroughness with which it is being constructed. It is not generally known, for example that over the 800 miles of mountain stretches electricity is to be used as the motive power and the engines will be 200 ton electric motor.

You don't experiment using Satin skin cream and powder. Their merits are proven.

PAVEMENT NEARLY DONE.

The work of paving Charles street is nearly completed. Two blocks have been rolled and now all that is necessary is the limestone dressing on those two blocks. The 1500 block will be ready for rolling on Monday.

After the completion of this street it will be one of the best streets on the North side.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pluerisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept." WANTS RETURN OF PICKPOCKET BAIL

ATTORNEY A. E. BLEEKMAN MAKES APPLICATION

SAYS IT WASN'T FORFEITED

In View of the Fact that He, as Attorney, Appeared for Defendants Must Return Money, He Says

Application has been made to Judge Brindley by Attorney A. E. Bleekman for the return of the bail furnished by John Williams and Frank Murray, the alleged pickpockets arrested here during the Saengerfest. Attorney Bleekman contends that in view of the fact that he appeared for the men the bail should not be forfeited. The case is attracting much attention among local lawyers and the suit for the recovery of the bail promises to be interesting.

Frank Murray and John Williams were arrested by the police during the Saengerfest here this summer, charged with being professional pickpockets. They pleaded not guilty and were released on $200 bail. Upon their failure to put in an appearance at their examination the bail was declared forfeited.

Attorney Bleekman, counsel for the two, contends that he appeared for the defendants and that in view of that fact the bail could not be forfeited.

LID SLAMMED ON FARGO.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 7.—The city council authorized Mayor Elliott to incur the necessary additional expense to close the red light district, which re-opened in a segregated section some months ago after a futile experience with the lid.

The official action is the result of a moral crusade started before the election for political effect. On the mayor's order Chief Grant immediately served notice on women to vacate inside of forty-eight hours. The chief also served notice on the poker rooms to close, and the lid is on tight

It's easy to please a woman after finding out what she wants—but there's the rub.

WHERE "TEDDY" WILL GO AND WHO WILL ENTERTAIN HIM

Where Roosevelt Will spend a considerable part of his time in Africa. Mrs. William McMillan at right and a map of British East Africa, showing the location of the Juja farm, where Roosevelt will be entertained.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2—It has just been definitely announced that President Roosevelt has accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan to visit them while on his African trip, and undoubtedly a considerable part of his time will be spent wth them at the Juja farm of 20,000 acres in the heart of Africa.

William McMillan, the owner of the famous Juja farm in British East Africa, where President Roosevelt will hunt, is the son of the founder of the American Car & Foundry company of St. Louis, and brother of the late United States senator, James McMillan of Michigan.

With his beautiful and gracious wife, Mr. McMillan enjoys an international reputation for hospitality. Therefore it was with more or less expectation that the announcement was received stating that President Roosevelt is to be the guest of the McMillans during his stay in East Africa.

The farm gets its name from the Ju and Ja rivers, between which it lies. It covers 20,000 acres of land, and is about 25 miles from Ndarino, one of the largest towns of the plateau, which is included in the British East Africa. It is fenced in on three sides by wire netting, while on the fourth the river Ath forms a sufficient protection to its boundaries. The country round about teems with game of all descriptions, including many varieties of carnivorous animals.

On the farm there are no less than six natural lion dens, and in view of the fact that last year 12 magnificent lions were killed in the neighborhood of one den, the possibilities of royal sport for the president will be readily understood.

There are 400 employes on the farm, the majority of whom are Massai and Somalis. The farm house, or as it is in reality, mansion, is built of asbestos and steel, which was brought in sections from England. Besides the house itself, which is richly furnished, there is a fine large building for the employes. A man's club; four sets of quarters for the married employes of the farm; a warehouse; a granery; a stable for thoroughbreds; corrals which are which are used for ponies, cows, mules, donkeys and goats; quarters for the Somalis and the Massai. Near by is an ice factory belonging to the estate.

Mrs. McMillan is almost as daring and enthusiastic in matters of sport as her husband. She is a crack shot, and many varieties of big game have fallen to her unerring aim. She has also taken part in the exploring expeditions in Africa, which have made her husband famous.

The McMillans own a beautiful villa in Berkley Square, London, Eng. Mrs. McMillan is an authoress of some note.

H. S. BOYS O. K. BANK GUARANTEE

In the debate which was held by the Lincoln Douglas Debating society last evening the question "Resolved, that the guarantee of bank deposits as set forth in the democratic platform should be made a federal statute," was debated. The affirmative which was upheld by Weimer and Fox, was awarded the decision by a vote of two to one The negative was debated by Dickinson and Mc-Hugh.

Professor Piper, a high school teacher, addressed the society on the delivering of debates. Mr. Piper gave several useful hints to the members of the society which will no doubt help the boys in the future.

As next Friday is the third anniversary of the society, the annual "blow out" will be held. The Artemis club, the girls' society of the school, have been invited to attend dressed in rural costumes. Several rural subjects will be talked on by the members of the Lincoln Douglas society, which will no doubt be valuable information for those intending to make farming their life vocation. The raising o fpumpkins and the rearing of pigs will be the subjects delivered.

CHARITY BALL.

Never has there been a prettier charity ball given than the one last evening at Germania hall. There was a good crowd, handsomely gowned women, good refreshments, and the music was beyond comparison. The decorations while not on as an elaborate a scale as on some former occasions, were effective and in good taste. A large basket filled with flowers was suspended from the center of the ceiling. Large white globes covered with trailing vines were suspended from the sides, and the balcony side lights were covered with red shades. The stage settings were especially handsome, consisting of potted plants, hanging baskets filled with vines and foliage, chrysanthemums and palms. Kreutz's orchestra furnished the music.

HOME-MADE QUININE HAIR TONIC.

The high cost of a good quinine hair tonic prevents thousands of men and women from using such a preparation daily on the hair. This has resulted in the study and investigation of the subject by some bright men and women who use quinine hair tonic regularly, but who do not care to pay for the expensive ready-made tonic. They find that by simply mixing one ounce of Beta Quinol with half a pint of water and half a pint of alcohol they can make more than a full pint of a quinine hair tonic of better quality and more beneficial to the hair than any of the widely advertised brands. A tonic made as described here will help the hair to become beautiful, glossy, long and abundant. It tends to prevent dandruff and falling hair and keeps the scalp in a healthy condition. This home-made Beta Quinol tonic is used by women who have most beautiful hair and plenty of it, as well as those whose hair and scalp is not in perfect condition. The Beta Quinol and alcohol can be procured at any drug store for 75 or 80c and they will make more and better hairt onic than you could buy for $2.00 in a manufactured state.

Pe-ru-na as a November Remedy.

The month of November, in temperate regions especially, requires of the human body a very radical adjustment to climatic conditions. The hot weather has passed, and cold weather has taken its place. That the CIRCULATION OF BLOOD IN THE SKIN SHOULD BE FREE and active is a matter of common knowledge. And in order that the body may be protected against the lowering temperature a vigorous circulation of blood in the skin must be maintained.

It is not so generally known, however, that the inside of the body also needs protection. THE MUCOUS MEMBRANES OF THE BODY, that line every passage and cavity and duct, also suffer from the change from hot to cold weather.

A medicinal compound that gently tones up these mucous membranes, enabling them to ADJUST TO WINTER WEATHER, is not only valuable to a great multitude of people, but to another multitude is absolutely essential to health.

Whether Peruna is a medicinal compound that meets these requirements can be judged by a hasty glance at some of its principal ingredients.

Take, for instance, hydrastis canadensis, which is an ingredient of Peruna. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is employed as a cure for DEPRAVED MUCOUS MEMBRANES, not only of the nose and head, but also of the stomach and intestines, as well as other internal organs. Hydrastis canadensis, ordinarily known as golden seal, is thus very clearly classed by the highest authorities as a valuable remedy wherever the mucous membranes of the body are in need of a little medicinal help.

Cedron is also one of the principal ingredients of Peruna. It is recognized by the United States Dispensatory and all leading works on materia medica, as a TONIC OF THE GREATEST VALUE. It is also an anti periodic and anti malarial remedy, and is therefore frequently used as a SUBSTITUTE FOR QUININE. It is a remedy of great merit, somewhat overlooked by the medical profession of late, but its undoubted tonic qualities are sure to reinstate this remedy in its original high-class rank as a safe and efficient tonic and appetizer.

Another ingredient of Peruna which is of manifest benefit is cubebs. Bartholow, in his excellent work on therapeutics, states that cubebs PROMOTES THE APPETITE, ASSISTS DIGESTION, and increases the circulation of the blood. He also goes on to recommend it for catarrh not only of the head and pharynx, but also of the stomach, as well as the other internal organs.

LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, IS COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS. This remedy, for many years has enjoyed a great reputation in southern states as a panacea for many diseases such as dropsy, indigestion, cramp, sick headache, and the like. Dr. Scudder, a writer of great fame, also recommends this herbal remedy for chronic diseases of the lungs and heart.

These are some of the principal ingredients of Peruna compounded into a single remedy by skillful and experienced pharmacists. The compound has been so devised that each remedy retains its full therapeutic value, one assisting the other in their beneficial action upon the human system, MAKING OF PERUNA A VERY EFFICIENT AND VALUABLE REMEDY.

People who pass through the month of November safely and find themselves acclimated to winter weather, generally pass through the remainder of the cold season without any serious difficulty. But NOVEMBER IS A CRITICAL MONTH. The adjustment of a large multitude of people fails to meet the exigencies of approaching winter.

No safer or more appropriate remedy than Peruna could be found. Taken according to the directions on the bottle, not only would catarrhal ailments be warded off but catarrh already acquired be corrected. It is with the assurance of knowing that we are right that we present to the public Peruna as an IDEAL TONIC AND CATARRH REMEDY.

AN OPEN FIELD

Companies that embark in the telephone business in these days are not protected by patents. The telephone field is open to whomever can get from the proper authorities the right to do business and can procure the necessary capital.

Yet there is a growing belief that the telephone is a natural monopoly and that one company in a community is better than two or more. The reason is apparent. Two telephone companies mean the division of telephone users into two camps with a Chinese wall of silence between them except so far as subscribers patronize both companies. And the man with two telephones makes for himself annoyance and trouble and adds to his expenses.

In this State, the nature of the telephone business is recognized by the Wisconsin Company which, instead of seeking to push into fields already occupied, makes arrangements by which it connects with its system the plants of many smaller companies. There are now more than 30,000 telephones on such connecting lines.

BOAT FACTORY MAY LOCATE IN CITY

NEED SUBSCRIPTION FOR $2,500 WORTH OF STOCK

HAVE OFFER FROM MICHIGAN

But Prefer La Crosse Because of Fine Water and Railway Facilities

J. C. Burrell of Kankakee, Ill., proprietor of the Outing Boat Company of that place has returned to his home after conferring with local capitalists in regard to locating in La Crosse. The company has already made an arrangement with the Vote Berger company for the plant in case they decide to locate. Mr. Burrell had a statement of the financial condition of the firm that was satisfactory in every respect.

All that is now required to bring the company here is for North Side business men to subscribe $2,500 worth of stock. It is understood that the North Siders who have been approached on the proposition have received it favorably and there have been received promises for about $1,000 already. This is encouraging and the boat company is now waiting until the next meeting of the Progressive League when the matter will undoubtedly be decided upon.

The Outing people say they will locate here by Dec. 1st., if the proposition made to them by the North Side is satisfactory.

CORNISH FALLS DEAD.

CHICAGO, Nov 7.—Wm. B. Cornish, second vice president of the Union Pacific railroad, was found dead in the Auditorium hotel. Heart failure is believed to be the cause. He came from his home in New Jersey ysterday and attended the theater last night. A bell boy discovered the body.

Cornish until 1893 was an attorny at St. Paul. When the Union Pacific was put in the hands of a receiver he was employed, and after the reorganization he was made vice president of the road, and of the Southern Pacific, Oregon Shortline and Oregon Navigation railway co. He also had charge of the legal departments of all these roads, and occupied the position at the time of his death.

The African Elephant.

Shunning man and, as a rule, fleeing at his approach, the African elephant when attacked often shows fight and is dangerous prey. Kongo specimens have very large ears that even stretch back beyond the neck and cover part of the flank. In color the Kongo elephants are of a grayish blue, almost slatelike tint. No one has even reported seeing specimens of the sacred white elephant of India there. In size Kongo elephants have been killed more than fourteen feet high at the withers and reckoned at more than eight tons in weight. Tusks obtained are sometimes more than 200 pounds in weight and six feet and a half in length.

Free Speech In England.

Professor Masterman, lecturing at Cambridge on modern England and the liberty of the subject, said there was enough treason spoken in Hyde park, London, on Sunday afternoons to fill a German fortress. Instead, the orators went home to tea. It is a remarkable fact, however, added the lecturer, that there is no state in Europe where attacks on the sovereign are so rare or so strongly resented by the people at large.—London Graphic.

SCANDAL SHOCKS EASTERN SOCIETY

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Sophie Eastman, daughter of the elder Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of Chicago; sister to his son, and formerly wife of Barret Eastman, a Chicago newspaper man, has been arrested at her palatial home, Buck Shoals, twelve miles from here on the French Broad River. The warrant, which was issued by a county magistrate, charges Mrs. Eastman with the violation of a state law which forbids the living of a man and a woman in a house unattended by other females, they being unmarried or not relatives.

The case was continued until the 19th. Mrs. Eastman being represented by counsel, while the man who swore out the warrant, the son of Colonel W. E. McBree, formerly a prominent railroad man, who had been living at Buck Shoals for several years, was not represented.

The sensational interest in the case is heightened by the fact that Mrs. Eastman has begun suit against Colonel McBree, charging that while she furnished all the money to buy Buck Shoals from the heirs of the late Bill Nye, the humorist who built it and who died there, he has so deluded her that the property is vested by a company which he controls.

The suit followed a quarrel between Mrs. Eastman and Colonel McBee, her inseperable companion at the horse shows separable companion at horse shows and such other functions to which they were welcomed, and the substitution by Mrs. Eastman of a young man, Rider Edwards, as her companion on drives. Added interest was given the trouble at 4 o'clock this morning with the destruction by fire of the hotel barn at Skyland, Mrs. Eastman's two fine saddle horses perishing. The fire was declared incendiary.

Mrs Eastman's acquaintances who are not many here, since she did not seek society much, are violent with rage and say the accusation is false and malicious. Her counsel, while repeating this, admit the swearing out of the warrant.

CANNON TO FOLLOW DEFEATED CHAIRMEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—A shake-up of the make-up of the next congress will result from the election. Not only are many newly elected congressmen opposed to the re-election of Cannon as speaker, but a number of heads of committees have been defeated. Sherman's election as vice-president leaves a vacancy on the important rules committee and the ruling forces of the house will be changed.

dent Paul Mahoney called a meet- for Nov. 20, at which the question of a successor will be raised. John C. Burns was added to the directorate before the meeting closed.

Burns Won't Serve.

Mr. Burns will not serve, and with the rumor that John Kindley will resign following the withdrawal of Mr. Elliott, the affairs of the association are left for the moment in some confusion.

"Not me," said Mr. Burns when asked whether he would serve on the baseball directorate.

"Ree-ally?" asked the reporter. "Why?"

"I've been there before," said Mr. Burns with a look of infinite understanding.

Mr. Burns was not present at the meeting, and had he been he would have absolutely declined to let his named be voted upon.

Hawley Has Places.

Manager Hawley has not made up his mind as to what his course will be. Mr. Elliott says the manager is now entertaining several flattering offers, one of which is with the Rochester, New York, club of the Eastern league. Mr. Elliott says this pays more than double Hawley's present salary, and that other offers offering even greater inducements have been received.

Small Debt Remains.

The annual report of the secretary last evening showed that the total receipts from the games, use of grounds, etc., amounted to $16,435.95. There was $1,100 borrowed from the bank, bringing the total up to $17,535.95. The total expenses for the past year were $17,453.90, leaving a balance on hand of $82.05. The report shows that there is $139.50 still due the association and that the indebtedness of the association amounts to $2,051.50. The total number of paid admissions for the season of 1908 were 25,304, the balance against the association being $1,912.00.

A Large Salary.

Mr. X., a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia, was much addicted to the habit of lecturing his office staff, and the office boy came in for an unusual share of admonition whenever occasion demanded and sometimes when it did not. That his words were appreciated was made quite evident to Mr. X. one day when a conversation overheard on the elevator between Tommy and another office boy on the same floor was repeated to him.

"Whatcher wages?" asked the other boy.

"I get $10,000 a year," said Tommy.

"Aw, gwan!" ejaculated the other boy derisively. "Quitcher kiddin'."

"Honest, I do," said Tommy; "$4 a week in cash and the rest in legal advice."—Harper's Weekly.

Blenheim.

A very "famous victory" was that of Blenheim, which is our corruption of Blindheim, the village on the upper Danube where John Churchill won his dukedom, his magnificent palace in Oxfordshire and his yearly pension of £5,000. This is still enjoyed by his heir, the present Duke of Marlborough, who annually places a French fleur-de-lis flaglet over the bust of his ancestor in the guardroom of Windsor castle, the condition of his tenure of the estate of Blenheim.—London Answers.

The Comparative Method.

Theodore had twice been sent to wash his hands and was now returning for the second inspection.

"My child," said his mother, comparing the two hands critically, "your right is just as dirty as your left. What have you been doing all this time?"

"Why, mamma," explained the youth, "last time you said that my left hand was cleaner than my right, so I tried to make them even. I'll go again."—Youth's Companion.

Before using Herpicide, the top of my head was completely bald, but the use of only two bottles has brought a new growth of hair. WHILE CHRONIC BALDNESS is incurable, many cases of primary or incipient baldness have been completely cured with Newbro's Herpicide, the original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." Of course, the rational plan is to save the hair while there is hair to save, but even after it is gone there is a "fighting chance" if the hair follicles are not atrophied. HOUSE OF BONDAGE VIEWED BY AUTHOR

MASTERPIECE PRESENTED BY FLORENCE ROBERTS

ENGLISH DIVORCE LAW THEME

Play Now on Initial Tour Will Prove One of the Metropolitan Successes

Seymour Obermer, London, England, author of "The House of Bondage," was in the audience which last night witnessed its production at the La Crosse theatre last night by a strong company headed by Florence Roberts. The holding of the Charity ball, the big social event of the year, was the cause of a rather small attendance but the fair sized audience witnessed one of the strong plays of the season.

The story of the play is based upon the English divorce laws which provide that a man may obtain a divorce from his wife for infidelity alone, while the wife, in order to obtain a divorce, must prove not only infidelity, but physical cruelty as well. Lady Joan Meredyth is a woman in a million. She is the wife of Sir Vincent Meredyth, one of the great legal minds of England and one of the leading politicians. His association with the Duchess of Banff drives his wife from him and in seeking forgetfulness in charity work she falls in love with Paul Bertrand, a famous London surgeon. It comes about that Bertrand, madly in love with Lady Joan but a man of strength and honor is called upon to operate upon Sir Vincent for a growth at the base of the brain which may prove fatal. The strong scenes brought out of these complications are many and striking. The operation succeeds and the return of the duchess finally drives Lady Joan from life with her husband. He, elevated to the important position of home secretary, promises an amendment of the laws as atonement. The wife warns him she will wait only assurance of his success, but declares her intention of seeking out the man she loves. The idea of the play is to show the injustice of the English divorce laws in their dealing with women and the strength with which the subject is handled by Mr. Obermer makes the play most absorbing. Its presentation by the following players could not be criticised:

Sir Vincent Meredyth—Arthur Forrest.

Lady Joan Meredyth, his wife—Florence Roberts.

Paul Bertrand, a London surgeon—Thurlow Bergen.

The Duchess of Banff—Ann Warrington.

Gwendolyn, Countess of Carlington—Mary Bertrand.

Author Here from London.

Mr. Obermer, the playwright, consented to an interview last evening. He is here from London to assist in launching the play and is pleased with the reception accorded a theme so distinctly English. The play opened only a short time ago in Goshen, Ind., played in Milwaukee, Madison, La Crosse and goes to St. Paul and the west. The piece goes into New York for the spring season. Mr. Obermer says the divorce laws of England are subject of much agitation but that owing to the presence of high churchmen in the house of lords by virtue of their position, it has been impossible to secure an amendment of the injustice. The play has particular strength and power when this condition is understood.

Mr. Obermer is an American, but resides in London. He comes to America every year and is now writing a play as distinctly American as "The House of Bondage" is distinctly English.

Miss Roberts is a La Crosse favorite and would no doubt have drawn a worthy and representative audience had it not been for the Charity ball at the Germania.

When a man accepts charity some one is sure to say he is not deserving.

Some men hate their fellow creatures long after they have forgotten why.

DELUDED VICTIM

How many times we read of people losing their hard-earned savings, through the hope of getting rich over night. They are usually the deluded victims of some exaggerated and highly colored advertisement.

Sufferers from chronic and long-standing disease are often deceived in the same way by medicines for which extravagant claims are made. It is wiser as well as cheaper in the end to consult a specialist whose thorough training and broad experience give him the power to size up the situation by minute investigation and practical observation. By going to the bottom of every case he naturally is in a position to prescribe intelligently and with sure results.

A specialist of exceptional ability and wide repute is Dr. L. M. Turbin, who is to be in La Crosse Wednesday, Nov. 11th.

The coming of so able a physician makes it possible for sufferers who have hitherto found it impossible to get relief by other means, to avail themselves of his services. Evidence of what Dr. Turbin can do is to be among our townspeople, many of whom have him to thank for their present health and strength.

Dr. Turbin may be consulted free at Hotel La Crosse, Wednesday, Nov. 11th.

DIFFERENCE IN THE BABY'S WARDROBE

	$860.00 girl		$8.60 girl
BONNET	$ 75.00	BONNET	$ 0.50
COAT	500.00	COAT	2.95
DRESS	135.00	DRESS	1.10
SHOES	10.00	SHOES	1.00
UNDERWEAR	100.00	UNDERWEAR	2.00
HOSIERY & GLOVES	5.00	HOSIERY & GLOVES	1.00
BIB	35.00	BIB	0.05

All men may be created equal, but within a few hours after a little one is brought into this world, a vast difference in its surroundings makes itself felt. In no particular is this more distinctly seen than in the dress. For the sake of argument the wardrobes of two babies of widely different financial rating are compared. Little Miss Millionaire is found to have a wardrobe which cost $860; little Miss Nobody a wardrobe which totals $8,60

The men at the head of the children's clothing department in some of the large stores could tell interesting tales if they would, but they are very reticent. A glance at the stock, however, is convincing.

You see that little bib—meant to tie around the neck, just like the ordinary article—not much bigger than your hand, a little morsel of fine hand embroidery and an edge of baby Irish—but $35 is the price. Little Miss Nobody looks very neat in a bib which cost 5 cents.

The lucky baby who uses this bib wears a coat similar in design built over a chiffon and silk lining, at a cost of $75. Real furs when worn run into a cost in some cases of $850 for a coat of ermine and bonnet to match.

And widely different as are the values of the wardrobes of these two babies, the net result in each case is—just a sweet baby dressed in a simple white outfit, in some cases the one with the less expensive wardrobe being the more attractive of the two.

BABY'S EYESIGHT WAS THREATENED

By Terrible Eczema—Head Became a Mass of Itching Rash and Sores —Would Scratch Till Blood Came —Much Money Wasted in Fruitless Treatments—Disease Was Soon

CURED AT SLIGHT COST BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our little girl was two months old when she got a rash on her face and within five days her face and head were all one sore. We used different remedies but it got worse instead of better and we thought she would turn blind and that her ears would fall off. She suffered terribly, and would scratch until the blood came. At night we had to pin her hands down. This went on until she was five months old, then I had her under our family doctor's care, but she continued to grow worse. He said it was eczema. When she was seven months old I started to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent, and in three weeks — what a change! I kept using the Cuticura Remedies for two months and our baby was a different girl. You could not see a sign of a sore and she was as fair as a new-born baby, and all for the small cost of a dollar and seventy-five cents where we had spent ten times the money for doctoring. She is now two years old and has not had a sign of the eczema since. Mrs. H. F. Budke, R. F. D. 4, LeSueur, Minn., Apr. 15 and May 2, 1907."

"I broke out with a humor which spread almost all over my body. The itching would get worse on retiring, so I could not sleep. I tried several remedies but it grew worse until I got some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Pills which began to relieve me at once. By the time I had used one vial of the Pills, the humor was entirely gone. I wish every sufferer could secure the Cuticura Remedies. Travis Bates, Hamburg, Ark., April 26, 1907."

SHOUTS FOR BRYAN IS BADLY BEATEN

POLICE FAIL TO CREDIT ITALIAN'S STORY

IS A FOND DU LAC MAN

Tony Romeo Says That He Shouted for Bryan and Was Then Slashed With Razor and Beaten

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.—Mystery surrounds an apparent attempt to slay Tony Romeo, a young Italian, who was found on Chicago street near Jackson street, by Detective John Normington, suffering with a bullet wound in the right arm, a long gash on the head above the right ear, done with a razor, and a slashing wound on the face.

The injured man was weak from loss of blood, and when taken to the Emergency hospital told a rambling story about being assaulted Monday night in the town of Marblehead, south of Fond du Lac. Romeo is not believed to be a resident of Milwaukee

Men After Him.

"I was in Fond du Lac Monday night," he said in broken English to Normington. "And went to Marblehead to see a celebration for Taft. Only a few men for Bryan were in the crowd and whenever they shouted for their candidate the other crowd hooted them. I was standing near a box car and when everything was quiet shouted, 'hurrah for Bryan.'

"Three men came after me then. One drew a revolver and shot me. The second man drew his razor and cut me on the head and face. Later I found myself in a box car, with the door closed. I got up and a doctor dressed my wounds and told me to get out of town as fast as I could."

HUNTER SHOOTS PELICAN FOR DUCK

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Nov. 7.—While hunting ducks at Little Sturgeon Louis P. Nebel killed a couple of pelicans. The birds were of unusual sie, measuring 7 feet 4 inches from tip to tip of wings. One of them had in its pouch a two and one-half pound pickerel. These birds escaped from some park and wandered up this way, as they are too far away from their native home to have migrated to these parts alone. The specimens are being mounted by a local taxidermist and will be kept as a curiosity by Mr. Nebel.

Charcoal Removes Stomach Poisons

Pure Charcoal Will Absorb One Hundred Times Its Volume In Poisonous Gases

Charcoal was made famous by the old monks of Spain, who cured all manners of stomach, liver, blood and bowel troubles by this simple remedy.

One little nervous Frenchman held forth its virtues before a famous convention of European physicians and surgeons. Secheyron was his name. He was odd, quaint and very determined His brothers in medicine laughed at his claims. Thereupon he swallowed two grains of strychnine, enough to kill three men, and ate some charcoal. The doctors thought him mad, but he did not even have to go to bed. The charcoal killed the effects of the strychnine and Secheyron was famous. Ever since that day physicians have used it. Run impure water through charcoal and you have a pure, delicious drink.

Bad breath, gastritis, bowel gases, torpid liver, impure blood, etc., give way before the action of charcoal.

It is really a wonderful adjunct to nature and is a most inexhaustible storehouse of health to the man or woman who suffers from gases or impurities of any kind.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal, sweetened to a palatable state with honey

Two or three of them cure an ordinary case of bad breath. They should be used after every meal, especially if one's breath is prone to be impure.

These little lozenges have nothing to do with medicine. They are just sweet, fresh willow, burned to a nicety for charcoal making and fragrant honey, the product of the bee. Thus every ingredient comes to man from the lap of nature.

The only secret lies in the Stuart process of compressing these simple substances into a hard tablet or lozenge, so that age, evaporation or decay may not assail their curative qualities.

You may take as many of them as you wish and the more you take the quicker will you remove the effects of bad breath and impurities arising from a decayed or decaying meal. They assist digestion, purify the blood and help the intestines and bowels throw off all waste matter.

Go to your druggist at once and buy a package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, price 25 cents You will soon be told by your friends that your breath is not so bad as it was. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

QUICKLY RELIEVES ALL INDIGESTION

FIVE MINUTES LATER ALL DISTRESS IS GONE.

UNBURDEN YOURSELF NOW

Don't Spend Another Miserable Hour from Stomach Trouble When Such Absolute Relief Is So Close

Miserable is the man or woman who suffers from dread Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There are few diseases which create such misery, long drawn-out suffering, as indigestion. It pursues them before meals, after meals and between meals; they take it to bed with them. It is with them wherever they go, though Indigestion is the simplest diease of all to cure.

Tell such afflicted ones, dear reader, of Pape's Diapepsin; urge the sufferer to go to any Pharmacy here and give 50 cents for a case. Such a sufferer would ever bless you, because five minutes after taking there would be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the Stomach, or Heartburn, or fullness and discomfort, no Belching of Gas or Eructations of Sour food, Debilitating Headache, Nausea, Water Brash and other symptoms of a sour, disordered stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat without the aid of the Stomach.

Diapepsin is a wonderful Stomach purifier and splendid to keep the intestines clean and fresh; then your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Diapepsin will rest the stomach and increase the gastric juices; this is what is mostly needed—more and better digestive juices—and no Gas —then Indigestion and all stomach trouble will go.

Each 50-cent case contains sufficient to usually thoroughly cure the most chronic dyspeptic.

WHERE THE DANGER LIES

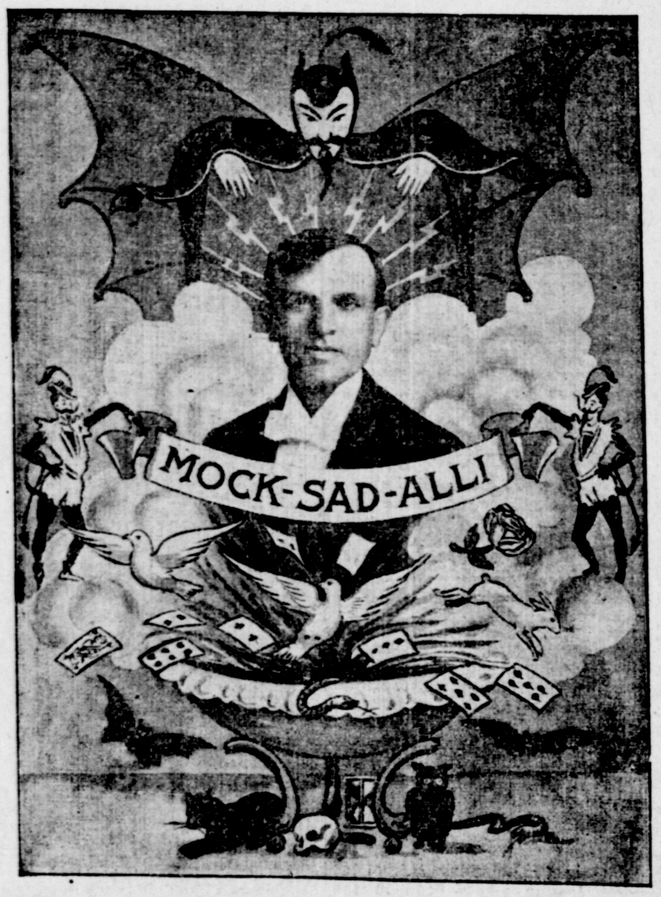

How Best to Avoid It--Facts Everybody Ought to Know

The great danger in colds at this season of the year is that they lead to pneumonia and consumption.

The moment you begin to take patent medicines and so-called cough cures, the majority of which depend entirely on nerve-deadening drugs for their effect, you weaken the body.

That takes away the vital force necessary to ward off disease, and the grip and pneumonia germs develop, and because the body is weakened is why pneumonia is so often fatal

Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, and does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs. It cures throat and lung troubles, coughs and colds.

SPARTA BOY HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

WAS RUNNING A RACE

Allan Reed Started Out for Race When His Horse Slides Hurling Him to Pavement

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Allan Reed, the fourteen-year-old son of Mrs A. B. Reed, narrowly escaped death when he was thrown from a pony belonging to a companion. The accident occurred shortly after school, as the children were on their way home. A number of boys had congregated, when Malcom McCoy and Earle Thurston rode up on their ponies. A race was at once suggested, McCoy to ride his own pony while Allan rode the pony belonging to Thurston. They had barely started when the pony on which Allan was riding, slipped, throwing him to the ground and falling on top of him. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried into the residence of W. N. Herman on South Court street. Dr. Searles was at once summoned and after working over him for an hour or more, removed him to his home on East Oak street, where he now lies in a precarious condition

FARMERS' TRUST TO BEAT STANDARD OIL

S. D. Kump, Secretary of American Society of Equity.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4 —That a great agrarian wave is sweeping over the country in which the farmers are playing a most important part is the contention of Samuel D. Kump, formerly of Madison, but last week chosen as national secretary of the American Society of Equity with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind. This organization already boasts of a membership of 60,000 farmers, principally in the tobacco section of the south and in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota in the north. Before another year is passed Mr. Kump believes that practically every state in the union will have a well organized membership which will wipe the commission men out of business, bringing larger returns to the farmer for his crop at no greater expense to the consumer.

"Those who consider themselves in a position to forecast the work of the society speak confidently of its future and assert that just as soon as the public realizes that the advance in price, which the farmers demand, is closely coupled with a system which will reduce prices to the consumer, a sentiment of popularity will sweep it into power beside which Standard Oil will looke like thirty cents," says Mr. Kump.

THREE TWINS IS TONIGHT'S FEATURE

ONE OF THE BIGGEST MUSICAL SUCCESSES OF YEARS

AN EVENING OF NOVELTIES

Electrical and Scenic Effects, Pretty Girls and Expensive New Features in This Remarkable Piece

The "Three Twins" which comes to the La Crosse theatre Saturday matinee and evening, Nov. 7th, is positively one of the best musical comedies that has ever been produced. It's long run in Chicago of five months at the Whitney opera house, and of six months at the Herald Square theatre in New York, where the S. R. O. sign is still being displayed nightly.

The Three" Twins" is a musical comedy with a plot and many novel features, the conglomerate nonsense, the riot of color, and the spirited movements make such an agreeable attack on one's senses that it matters not under what name the revelry goes. The music titillates and tantalizes, and the witty lines and adept clowning excites one to laughter. Mr. Gaites has so lavishly costumed the beautiful show girls that they are pleasing to the eye. In the second act there is eight of the handsomest Parisian directoire gowns worn by beautiful and shapely girls. The electrical effects are marvelous, the faceograph being a distinct novelty, the electrical aerial swing being an amazon structure of steel, illuminated with over 2,000 electric lights revolving at a rapid rate with six girls in the baskets singing "The Cuddle Song," is said to be one of the most beautiful finales ever staged.

The company is headed by Victor Moriey who created the title role and includes Richard Bartlett, Geo. S. Trimble, Eva Fallon, Maud Demarest, Della Niven, Bessie Clifford, Florenz Kolb, W. H. Woodside, Frank Smith, E. P. Bower, Ada Bateman, Marie Naskow and a large chorus.

How Is Your Digestion.

Mrs. Mary Dowling of No. 228 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market today." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c at O. T. Erhart's drug store.

STORY OF BACHELOR GIRLS

Three of Them Swear Not to Notice the Stern Sex, But They Finally Come to It

The attraction at the La Crosse theater Wednesday, Nov. 11, will be the Messrs. Shubert's production of "Girls," Clyde Fitch's latest comedy, which is now breaking all New York records at Daly's theatre, in the metropolis.

The story concerns three young women, who live in a New York studia apartment and who affect to despise the masculine sex, confident in their belief that men are superfluous creatures in the scheme of life One of the maids is a law firm's secretary, the second is a stenographer, and the third is a young person who aspires to twinkle behind the footlights. Each night before retiring—and the retiring scene, by the way, is one of the most delightful situations that Mr. Fitch has ever invented—they cross hatpins and swear a mighty oath of eternal hostility to man in general.

Pamela is the leader of the manhating trio and her first encounter with the common enemy occurs at th end of the first act, when an unknown man, young and handsome, seeks refuge in the girls' apartment. After he has been soundly lectured on the unworthiness of his sex in general, he is hustled out of a third story window and compelled to walk a plank which leads to a neighbor's apartment across the airshaft. Though he has gone he has left an impression on the heart-strings of the leader of the man-haters' club, and after all three girls have crawled into their beds, Pam is heard, as if talking in her sleep, to softly mutter the word "Edgar," which was the name the intruder gave while trying to make himself known.

The second act takes place in the law office where Pam is working. She is kept busy resisting the overgallant attentions of the senior partner, and things come to a crisis when he asks her to go to dinner with him at Shanley's. She promptly resigns and is on the point of leaving the office, when her old enemy, the young man of the night adventure in the apartment, enters the office It transpires that he is the junior partner of the law firm who has been on his vacation, and has not been in the office since Pam's advent.

Pam indignantly explains the cause of her resignation. "Yes, I am leaving," she says, "because that gay old partner of yours invited me to dinner at Shanley's." c

"Did you want to go to the Plaza?" the young man asks, solicitously.

Then ensues a period of banter in which Pam is worsted at her own argument. She finally decides to remain in the office, piqued at the attention of the young man to another of the trio of man-haters who is assisting Pam in her work.

The third act shows the bachelor maids disconsolate in their studio. Their oath against man shows signs of disintegration. An unconditional surrender is made to the enemy and Pam is carried off by the young man whom she professed to hate most of all.

The little fads and foibles of girls are sketched in a most entertaining fashion Mr. Fitch has drawn his characters lightly, obviously with a view to entertain, but their fidelity to human natrre is readily apparent.

The cast suppled by the Messrs. Shubert is one of metropolitan excellence, while the production is exceedingly elaborate and correct.

"PAID IN FULL" COMES NOV. 19

The current theatrical season is one remarkably free of real dramatic successes, in fact the positive hits might easily be counted upon the fingers of one hand, but even of this limited number there is one standing out dominant as the season's absolute sensation, "Paid in Full," by Eugene Walter, now in its second year at the Astor theater, New York. The play was also seen in Chicago for five months at the Grand opera house, and its reception there was equal to that given it in New York. "Paid in Full" will be seen at the La Crosse theater on Thursday, Nov. 19, with a special company under the direction of Wagenhals & Kemper. When presented in New York and Chicago the play was acclaimed by all the critics of both these cities as the most daring and original conception of years. Mr Walter had a story to tell and he told it with frankness and directness which won for him a triumph. "Paid in Full" is in four acts, treating in a remarkably daring and original fashion of a great issue in the moral life of our country today. It is a real flesh and blood play and has won the unending esteem of all New York and Chicago playgoers. A distinguished cast and a perfectly flawless production will be seen in this city, and the indications are that "Paid in Full" will be greeted here by a brilliant and appreciative audience.

THE AMATEURS AT THE BIJOU

The success of the amatours at the Bijou is responsible for crowded houses Friday night which is otherwise the poorest in point of attendance. Last night five would-bes tried the patience of a suffering audience in a medley of offerings of more or less resible merit. The lemon hued spotlight and the hook were used to indiscriminate advantage.

The King of the Harmonica blew a few airs at the audience and further amplified his act by essaying a bone solo. His act was rather good and the audience had no chance to guy him.

Prof. Fielding-Kelly gave a fair exhibition of roller skating.

Ciscziousco Cramoizi, a verdant acrobat, loaned to Manager Koppelberger for the occasion by a farmer of Coon nValley, gave an exhibitio of circus stunts. The agony was unnecessarily prolonged. His best stunt was the jumping over two chair to a handstand. His barrel finish would have been a thriller to a La Crescent audience, but fell flat here. The audience gave him the sour honors.

Clarissa Larsen, La Crosse's prima donna, sang in a voice strangely like the tenor of the Colonial Quartette, "Loaf Me und de World Vas Mine, Yet." The Peroxide blonde's figure warranted a sheath gown but she wore one of the Irish Comedienne's skirts, several sizes too large for her, which gave her hips the appearance and contour of a Yorshire pudding. She attempted to reach C in altisimo but the confounded note stuck crosswise in her throat and the descending hook put an inglorious finish to her efforts.

Christopher Christopherson, a direct importation from the fjords of Norway sang Norwegian folksongs au naturelle. To those who understood what it was about is seemed awfully simple, but the majority of the audience thought it was simply awful. The melodies no doubt date back to the time of Olaf Triggvison, and as rendered by the artist, had a strong aroma of asafoetida. The audience groaned in sympathy.. Shades of Harry Lauder, what next! Electric effects, spotlights, the hook and a shower of dangling lemons failed to carry him away. He was still singing when the curtain rung down. The crowd was uproarious.

Next Week's Bill.

The headliners for next week's bill will be the Carson-Talcott company in a comeditta offering entitled "The First Day of School." The company includes five members, Miss Cordie Talcott, Miss Mazie Devereaux, Messrs. Jack Talcott, Robbie Talcott and Charles Emmet. The following musical hits will be sung: "Would You," "Base Ball," "Kiss Kiss Song," "Ball Game," "Foolishness," and "Dear Old Farm."

Mr. Giles W. Harrington, the purveyor of polite pleasntry, in up to-date monologue.

Tippel and Kliment, high class musical artists.

Mlle. La Garroll, high class aerial artist, the peer of all lady gymnasts, in feats of strength and skill on the Roman rings and trapeze. This lady has elaborate wardrobe and stage setting.

HEXAMETHYLENETETRAMINE

Hexamethylenetetramine is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. LAST DAY OF THE GREAT TONY PONY CONTEST

At 10 O'Clock Tonight the Battle of Ballots Will Be At An End

The Last, "The Main Chance" For All Candidates

Subscriptions Not Turned In Today Are Worthless

Everything Is In Readiness For The Finish Tonight

JUDGES WHO WILL CONDUCT FINAL COUNT HAVE BEEN SELECTED

Watch For the Winners in The La Crosse Tribune Monday

WARNING TO ALL CANDIDATES

This is written merely as a matter of caution, and it is of the utmost importance that all candidates, and others interested, especially those candidates outside of La Crosse, read and weigh every line of it. We would dislike to see any candidate lose any votes because of the excitement that is sure to come during the last days of the contest or because of any misunderstanding on their part. It is impossible for you to exercise too much care in arriving at a full understanding of the rules and conditions governing the closing of the contest.

First—All votes and remittances (no matter what time mailed), must be received at The La Crosse Tribune office by 10 o'clock, Saturday night, November 7th.

If not received by this hour, they are worthless, and will not be counted.

Second—All votes and remittances mailed after Thursday night should bear a special delivery stamp.

Third—If you live outside the city and intend to mail your votes, take the precaution to find out exactly the time the registry department of your postoffice closes, and in regard to the train service on which your votes will be carried.

Fourth—All remittances and votes should be addresed to the "Con test Manager," and not to any indi-viduals. This is to prevent confusion.

Fifth—Be sure that your name is on all ballots before sending to this office. This ie very important.

Sixth—But in any case votes to be counted must be received in the Tribune office before 10 o'clock Saturday night, November 7th. If not received by this hour, they are worthless, and will not be counted.

Seventh—The announcement of the winners of all prizes will be made in the Tribune, Monday, November 9th.

Look over the above conditions carefully. Do not make up your mind that you understand any particular one until you are absolutely sure of its full meaning. If the precaution of careful reading is adhered to closely, there should be no vain regrets concerning rejected votes not cast because they did not conform to the rules of the contest. If in doubt concerning any point, ask questions until everything is perfectly clear.

The judges chosen to make the count tonight in the great Tony Pony contest are as follows:

J. E. Tordt, of Reiman & Tordt.
A. F. Reitzel, of Reitzel's Dry Goods Store.
Julius Westby, of the Westby Clothing Co.
A. G. Nicholson, of Nicholson &Scott.
Peter Newburg, of Newburg Clothing Co.
L. E. La Vaque, North Side Grocer.

These men are well known to the people of this community and all the contestants can rest assured that the count of the ballots will be absolutely fair.

The Contest Manager wishes to again caution the contestants about getting all their votes into the ballot box by 10 o'clock. The subscriptions must be in the office before 10 o'clock, so that the ballot can be issued. Do not wait until the very last minute to turn in your business, but get in early. We will have an extra clerical force, but human hands can only work so fast. Remember that the ballot box will be closed promptly at 10 o'clock tonight.

THE LAST CHANCE.

The last chance!

This is the last day of balloting.

Tonight at 10 o'clock the polls will close in the great Tribune Tony Pony contest. Every vote must be in the ballot box by that hour in order to count. If not received by that hour they are worthless.

But the last chance is always the best. One final, supreme effort today may land the prize for any one of the candidates. The friends who have responded with support before can hardly refuse at the last moment when a little help means victory.

Candidates should get their subscriptions in as early asp ossible today for the biggest business of any day of the contest is sure to be recorded. Get the subscriptions in early and you will have time to spend in getting a few more. Nothing can be gained by holding them to the very last hour, for absolute secrecy will be maintained regarding what is turned in by the various candidates.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF WINNERS.

If the counting of the votes goes off as expected, the names of the winners of the four Tony Pony Outfits will be announced by the judges tonight after the count is completed, and will also be published in Monday's issue of The La Crosse Tribune. On Monday evening November 9th, the happiest children in the central west will be the four who will read in The Tribune that they have each won a prize.

The vote of each candidate will be published. Since the last standing of the candidates was published last Tuesday there has been an avalanche of special ballots every day. The uncertainty has stimulated every candidate to increase his vote by every ballot possible, for each has realized that his rival was doing the very same thing. The battle of the ballots has been waged at a heart-breaking pace the last few days.

Of course, there will be surprises and disappointments when the result is announced. Who knows how many "dark horses," to use an apt political term, may forge to the front as a result of the final hours of balloting today? Some contestants may lose the coveted prize by just a few votes, and some may win by as small a margin. Each candidate should work these last few hours so that, if defeated, he will have no regrets over a failure to take advantage of an opportunity to win. He should be able to say that he did his very best, and that was all he could do.

THE GREATEST CONTEST EVER.

The Tribune contest has been an unprecedented success from its very first day. No similar contest ever conducted in La Crosse by any newspaper has aroused greater public interest. Everybody seems to be interested in some candidate, and all are willing to help their favorites. It has been fairly fought by the scores of candidates who were nominated, and the best campaigners are going to win. It is a pleasure to The Tribune to reward them for their efforts with the handsome Tony Pony Outfits, which will go to the children.

Today—Saturday—is the day. Today is the last chance.

Remember that for every thousand votes you have to deposit today your nearest rival in your district may have two thousand. Get your votes in early this evening and then get more.

Remember that you have hundreds of friends who are watching you and perhaps have worked for you and who want to see you win. It is up to you to do your level best for victory to vindicate their support of you.

The fighter who makes the best stand at the last ditch is the one whom victory loves to honor. The ballots you may unexpectedly pick up from now until 10 o'clock may give you the leadership in your district.

Today is the time for the effort that wins!

CRAZY MAN IS CAUGHT IN SPARTA

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 7.—A man whose identity is unknown has been given a berth in a padded cell at the Monroe county jail and is thought to be an escaped inmate of an insane asylum.

He was taken into custody by Chief of Police Martin Holmes with the assistance of Sheriff Miller and another after a desperate struggle on Water street last evening about 6:30 o'clock. Although small of stature he proved a powerful opponent for the officers of the law. He was arrested after a fit of insanity which came upon him on the corner of Main and Water streets at which time he became violent and threw himself to the ground raving in a frenzied manner and causing a great deal of excitement.

From what can be learned of the man from his incoherent tale, he came from Madison. Wis., and enroute from that place he says a brakeman on one of the railroads hit him over the head with a piece of iron or a stone. He also tells of falling and hitting his head against a frog of a switch. In his imagination he raves about his hair pulling and tells of his sister being in heaven.

Fruit Figures.

The annual report of the Sparta Fruit Growers' association is authority for the following figures which sum up the shipment of fruit handled by the local fruit growers:

Red rasberries, 3,400 cases, brougt, $5,988.16, average $1.76 per case; black raspberries, 1,135 cases, $2,150.21, $1.88 per case; blackberries, 7,516 cases, $2,139.21, $1.55 per case; blueberries, 2,820 cases, $4,330.50, average $1.53; strawberries, 42,281 cases, $46,885.91, average $1.10. Total amount realized, $71,006.85. The strawberries handled exceeded the crop of 1907 by 12,000 cases and the sale by $10,000.

Wedding.

David F. Jones and Miss Thurser Hutson, both of Sparta, were united in marriage by the Rev. Horth of the Rockland church, at the home of the bride's brother, Chas. Hutson, on Jefferson street, last evening in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion and a fine wedding supper was served after which the happy couple left for a short wedding trip. Mr. Jones is a popular member of the Knights of Pythias and Woodmen lodges and the city fire department, and Mrs. Jones is one of Sparta's popular women.

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Even Erickson of Cannon Valley celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last evening at their home in that place and a large number of friends and relatives gathered to extend congratulations and make merry on the occasion of their silver wedding. A bountiful supper was served and many beautiful and costly presents were given. A number of those present had attended their wedding twenty-five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Erickson have spent all their married life in Cannon Valley.

Marriage Licenses.

Three marriage licenses have been granted by County Clerk Talbot for the week as follows: Guy Rayner, Menominee, and Lillian Furbur, Adrian; W. H. Crawford, Grant, and Mina Blawers, Grant; Bernard Bellack, Clifton, and Minnie Wendorf, Wilton.

FOURTH AND PEARL STS.

We are often assured that the day of gossip has passed with the passing of the village sewing circle. That women are growing so big and broad in their ideas that they have no time for gossip. That clubs for self culture have eliminated the germ of gossip from their make-up and they meet to converse on the great topics of the day, not to tear to rags the character and fame of their friends. In a great measure this is true, for women are reaching out and up for the best gifts in the reach of mankind. The great moral wave which is sweeping over the country is due in a large measure to women. They have long been regarded as the band that hold together religions and churches. Take women out of the churches today and the congregation would not be enough to fill one church out of ten. Women have unlimited courage. They have the devotional nature. They are enthusiasts and no great movement ever succeeded without enthusiasm But—the gossip matter is another story. Of course it may be called by a different name. It is just a pleasant conversation. Friendly interest is what one woman used as an excuse for joining tse "turnover" club. Kindly criticism for the good the victim often covers a multitude of sins in this direction, but what does it all come to? Just gossip! As Lady Frederick said: "Other women dye their hair. I have mine touched up. Of course it costs just as much and the result is the same but—" and then the shrug and smile finished the sentence. It is odd how we find excuses for ourselves. Of course it is because we know all sides of the subject. Because of this—because we are lenient to our own faults since we have a thorough understanding of the causes therefor, why can not we be as lenient to others? Why not give the other woman credit for a good motive even if we do not wholly approve of her methods We may not understand why she takes the stand she does in a matter, but does that prove that we are right and she is wrong? A group of club women were expressing their opinions of another in my hearing the other day. The woman is beautiful, still young, exceptionally intelligent and one of the most charmingly gowned of her little circle. She has ample means and has been accustomed to good clothes all her life, but the very lovely costume she had worn when she had appeared on the club platform recently was being figuratively torn to rags by the group of friends, who dismissed the really brilliant paper with a brief word of commendation followed by:

"But I must say I think she was over-dressed. For my part, I don't give so much time to dress. It looks frivolous."

"Well, I confess I am tired of seeing ball gowns trailed around on club platforms," said another, whose gown was both beautiful and well cut. "It looks as though the club was being used merely as a show window. Don't you think so?"

The pleasant faced little woman addressed shook her head deprecatingly.

"I give too much time and thought to dress myself, to say anything about another." She smiled at the look of amazement on the faces of her friends, for all knew that her income was limited "I know you would hardly think so, but I do. The woman who not only must plan a dress, but must make it as well is sure to give a great deal of thought to the matter. Far more than the woman who goes to the best store and buys the latest fabric and sends it to a modiste, leaving the trimmings and linings to her. But you take the woman who must rip up an old dress, and out of the pieces which she cleans herself, concoct a new dress—that woman gives strength and time and brain work that another woman never dreamed of. I like to see the pretty gowns. Many a club woman never has an opportunity to do so except on the platform of her beloved club. It is to her not only a place of mental refreshment, but a social function as well. It is pleasanter to listen to the reader of a paper when the reader is beautifully dressed. I argue for the prettiest gown one possesses when appearing before an audience composed of people who never have evening dresses and never expect to have them. I can't believe that the American people are so narrow minded that they would be incited to an unwholesome feeling of envy, when a sweet woman gives them the best she has mentally, in a beautiful costume that adds to her charms, and assures them that she desires to do them as much honor as she would a party of wealthy friends We must look for the motive. If a woman is an empty headed frivol, then she has no business on the platform, but her handsome clothes may mitigate the offense."

The ladies laughed amusedly, but they looked a little guilty. They had forgotten that perhaps the desire to give them of her best in every way might have been the motive back of the elaborate costume. That perhaps it had been worn to do them honor, rather than to display either the charm of the wearer or the richness of materials. They had been paid a compliment and had not been kind enough to see it.

ALPINE GUIDES.

Some Are Experts In "Snow and Ice Work," Some In "Rock Work."

Some of the Alpine guides are experts in climbing. There are a number who are noted for their skill in what the Alpinist calls "snow and ice work." That means going up a peak which has so many snow fields and glaciers that its sides and summits may be nearly covered with them. The glacier guide can tell you all about "cornices"—snow masses which project from the edge of precipices and overhang the valley beneath like the roof of a house. Experience has told him whether a cornice can be crossed safely or whether it may break off if one ventures upon it. He is also an expert with the ice ax carried in his belt, cutting footholds in the glittering walls that may rise fifty or a hundred feet above your head. These ice precipices are frequently found at the heads of glaciers, which, as the schoolboy knows, are merely rivers of frozen water slowly moving down the face of a mountain on account of the force of gravity and the great pressure of the ice masses which form their source on the upper part of the slope. Other guides make a speciality of "rock work," conducting persons up peaks which may be only partly covered with snow and ice, but having sides of bare rock so steep that in places the cliffs may be almost straight up and down. Here it would seem that one must be as spry and as sure footed as the chamois—the rare goat that lives up amid the Alps. While the crevasse and other dangers of the snow and ice fields may be absent, the mountain may be so abrupt that the climber must ascend hundreds of feet pulling himself up with arms aiding his legs, while often the guide hauls him to the top of the most difficult slopes by main strength. —St. Nicholas.

LADY SCORCHER PAYS A FINE

COSTS HER $5.00 TO SPEED HER AUTOMOBILE

FIX PRICE OF PRISON TWINE

In Spite of the Rise in the Price of Fiber it Is One Cent Lower Than Last Year

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 7.—It cost a prominent Minneapolis woman a $5 bill to keep her identity a secret when she was arrested by Officer Barnes of the Rondo street precinct, charged with violating the automobile ordinance

She told the desk sergeant that her name was Mary Carlson, and smilingly asked him how much bail he desired.

"Five dollars, lady," smiled back the sergeant.

She opened a leather purse, pulling out a roll of bills, found so small a one as $5 with difficulty.

Miss "Carlson" left the station after lighting the lamps on her automobile and proceeded at a moderate speed down the street.

When her name was called in police court, she failed to answer the charge, and the bail was forfeited.

Fix Twine Prices.

STILLWATER, Minn., Nov. 7. — Warden Henry Wolfer announced the prices of binder twine for the state prison for next season Heretofore the prices have not been fixed until January, but a full supply of fiber was secured by the warden before the prices began to advance a month ago, and the continued rise in prices will not affect the price fixed.

The figures on all grades will be 1 cent a pound lower than last year.

CAN'T KILL ANY WILD ASSES

There are no restrictions placed upon the number of lions, leopards and crocodiles that he may wish to shoot. He may also kill two elephants and enough other game to keep him more than busy.

DOOM OF DIVORCE LAW SEEMS NEAR

SOUTH DAKOTA OPPONENTS SAY IT IS DEFEATED

MAY HAVE LOST TUESDAY

If it Was it Was Through Confusion With Sunday Closing and Sunday Amusements Ballots

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 7. — Opponents of the proposed new divorce law, raising the period of residence from six months to one year and requiring that hearings be held at regular terms of court instead of "in chambers," are confidently claiming that the measure was defeated on Tuesday by the voters of the state. Returns are meager and those favoring the law by no means concede that it has been defeated.

Cause of Defeat.

If the measure has been defeated as claimed, as it now seems likely, it will be due to several causes, chief of which is the fact that the proposed divorce law was greatly handicapped by being placed upon a separate ballot containing three other proposed laws, two of them being county option and a law designed to prohibit Sunday amusements in South Dakota, such as baseball games and theatrical performances The county option law, which appears to have been defeated in the state, appeared first on the separate ballot, being followed by the divorce act.

That fully 80 per cent of the voters of the state favored the proposed divorce law has been conceded.

SPARTA BOYS ROB SCHOOL TEACHERS

SECURE THEIR SAVINGS AMOUNTING TO $100

ROAD WORK IS COMPLETED

Spend $6,000 Improving Sparta Roads —Wedding of Well Known Young Couple

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The authorities of this city and surrounding counties are on the lookout for two Sparta youths, Frank Beedle and Leo Berry, who stole about $100 from two young ladies at a boarding house in Beloit, Wis., a few days ago. Their whereabouts is a mystery.

The two lads are about nineteen years of age and went to Beloit from Sparta about two weeks ago to search for work stopping at a private boarding house there. During their stay they made themselves agreeable to two young school teachers and in some way learned that the young ladies had about $100 secreted in a trunk in their room and awaited their chance to secure the cash which was taken during the absence of the teachers.

Making good their escape from Beloit the two lads have not been heard of since. The matter was at once reported to the Beloit authorities. The Monroe county authoritis were notified to be on the lookout for their return home. At the present writing nothing has been heard of them and no clue to their whereabouts has developed although it is thought they have gone west by the freight route, as a railroad hand of Beloit volunteered the information that two fellows were seen hanging around the railroad yards on the night after the theft was discovered.

Will Build Road.

The city council last evening granted a one-year extension to the Sparta-Melrose Railroad company in which to build their contemplated electric road between Sparta and Melrose, after a heated session and much arguing over several clauses in the franchise. The principal objection raised against granting the extension was on account of the vagueness of the clause relating to motive power which did not specify explicitly that electric power should be used in its operation. The matter was finally settled by the company agreeing to change that clause to read that the motive power should be electric and the franchise extension granted.

Road Work Completed.

The town of Sparta has completed its road work for the year 1908, after making a good record in the way of road improvement under the good roads law. August Schaver, chairman of the town board in charge, has given out his figures for the year which show that $6,000 has been expended on the roads of the town with good results. The improved roads include the road north from the Northwestern depot to Crowley's hill, which was the worst in the town, the road north of the city to the poor farm and the Big Creek for 1-3 mile. In the last three years the town has expended $8,000 on good roads with the result that 2¼ miles of road have been improved at a cost of about $3,000 in round numbers per mile It is expected that the cost per mile will be reduced to $2,000 this next year. The town has bought a stone crusher for $800 in addition, and will continue the good work. The city of Sparta has expended $13,589.55 during this year for paving, having paved with brick Water street to Court street; Court street from Oak to Montgomery street; Water street from the old pavement to the bridge; Oak street between Court and K streets, and the alley back of Water street between Main and Oak streets.

Mr Guy holds a responsible position with the Grand Rapids Milling company in this city and is a member of the Modern Woodmen His wife is well liked here. "OUR FOUR YEAR QUEENS"

Mrs. James Monroe, Mistress of the White House 1817-1825.

When Mrs. Monroe took charge of the White house she was fortunate in having an entirely new home, for it will be remembered that the rebuilding of the executive mansion was finished that year and was given its first coat of white paint, after which it was known as the White house. It was refurnished throughout with mahogany especially imported from London and Paris.

The Monroes will be remembered for their informality and a news item from a paper of current date portrays this very clearly:

"The secretaries, senators, foreign ministers, consuls, auditors, accountants, officers of the navy and army of every grade, farmers, merchants, parsons, priests, lawyers, judges, auctioneers and nothingarians—all with their wives and some with their gawky offspring—crowd to the president's house every Wednesday evening; some in shoes, most in boots, and many in spurs; some snuffing, others chewing, and many longing for their cigars and whiskey punch left at home; some with powdered heads, some frizzled and oiled, some whose heads a comb has never touched, half hid by dirty collars reaching far above their ears, as stiff as pasteboard."

Mrs. Monroe was a stately, polished woman, well trained to her position by her long experience as an ambassador's wife, but she was not strong physically and her retiring nature left a chilly impression She was never popular like Dolly Madison who loved company, enjoyed life and had a healthy interest in all that happened about her.

Mrs. Monroe did her duty by her position and gave society what it expected, but she did not really care for it, and so it only respected her. She longed for the quiet of her Virginia home and the company of her husband, who for many years had been in public life.

ROOSEVELT FOR PLATT'S JOB?

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—That President Roosevelt may be the successor of Senator Platt in the senate is considered by many in Washington as not at all improbable. It is said that he would not be entirely adverse to the acceptance of the senatorial orffice under conditions as they will be after March 4.

His general attitude has been adverse to entering the senate because he has felt that as a member of that body he might be called upon to criticise his successor in the presidency and this he would feel a delicacy about doing.

GERMAN PRINCE IN AIRSHIP FLIGHT

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Crown Prince William today ascended in the Zeppelin airship, with Zeppelin in charge of the flight. There were twelve other passengers. The ascent was made at Friedrichshafen before a great crowd. The prince was not nervous.

The airship was immediately steered northward to intercept a special train bearing the emperor from Vienna. It sighted the train near Augsburg and descended to within 100 feet from the ground William peered from the train window and the prince waved his cap and shouted greetings. The kaiser yelled, "I wish I was aloft with you." The airship then ascended several thousand feet and then headed toward Friedrichshafen.

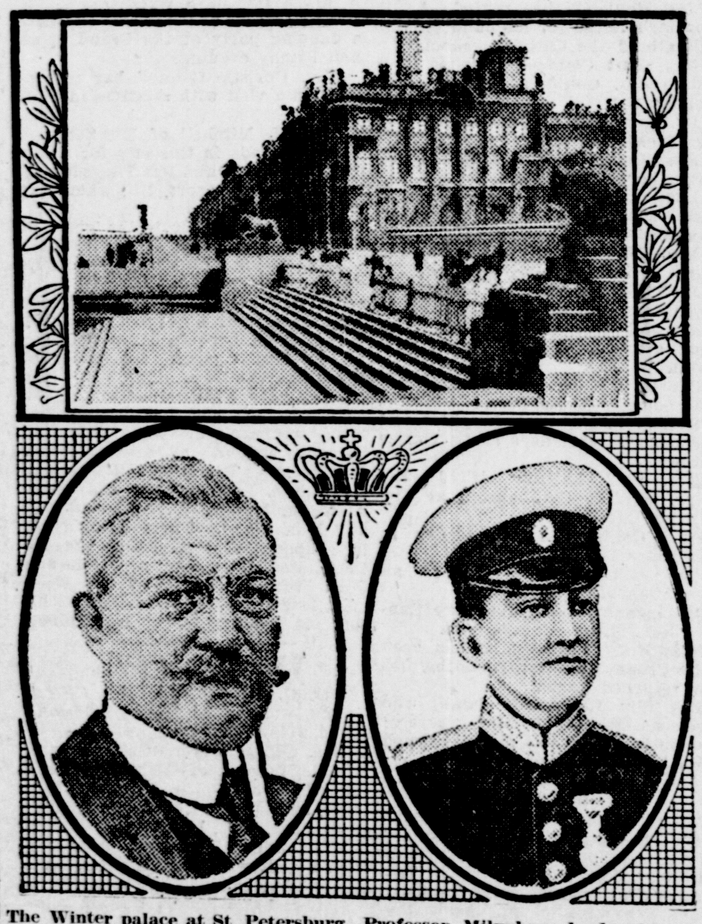

TOBACCO TRUST LOSES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The United States circuit court of appeals this afternoon in a decision sustained the government against American Tobacco company, that it was doing business in opposition to the law. DUMA DEEP IN BALKAN MUDDLE

The Winter palace at St. Petersburg, Professor Milyukov, leader in the Russion Duma, and Crown Prince George of Servia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3.—The autumn session of the third Russian duma has opened and at once the deputies plunged into the Balkan situation by the radicals, under the direction of Malyukov, declaring that the annexation of Bosnia and Herzogovnia by Austria-Hungary was a national question and that the attempts of the government to gag the voice o fthe nation were intolerable This, coupled with the fact that Crown Prince George of Servia arrived here today from Belgrade and has been lodged in the winter palace, presumably as a special envoy in behalf of Bulgaria, has made the Balkan situation the most talked of incident of the time.

Crown Prince George was cheered outside the railway station as he made his way through to his carriage, by a crowd of several hundred persons, but before his train arrived the police cleared the station, much to the disappointment of deputations of Servians and Bulgarians, who were prepared to deliver speeches of welcome
